EDITORIAL BRIEFS.

BISMARCK sausages are the latest thing from the butchers.

VANDERBILT believes he is the richest man in the world.

THE Philadelphia Times now has two or three colored men on its reportorial staff.

IN less than one year James G. Blaine will be inaugurated President of the United States.

MR. BELFORD announces that, if Mr. Blaine is the Republican candidate, Mr. Conkling will not oppose him.

AN informal vote of the Republican committee of California showed a large majority in favor of the nomination of Blaine for President.

THE straws, this spring, are not blowing in the direction of the Democratic camp. East and West the local elections show large Republican gains.

BISMARCK, by his bull-headed arrogance, has done more to dignify Herr Lasker's memory than all the resolutions that Tom Ochiltree could write in a year.

DR. MCCOSH seems as vigorous as ever, although he has reached three score years and ten, and tried some time ago to resign the presidency of Princeton College.

TILDEN is said to be dead from his eyes down, but his mind is active enough to run for President and he has the aid of that powerful luminary the New York Sun.

PAILADELPHIA'S one hundred bosses served a good purpose in their day, but they have concluded to disband. Meanwhile, the band will play a funeral dirge.

ALTHOUGH expressing himself well satisfied with Arthur, Senator Mitchell said the other day, without reserve, that he believes Blaine is the popular choice of the people for President.

WENDELL PHILLIPS left but little MS. behind him in collected form. There is much good material, however, in the newspaper reports of his numerous speeches, and they will be used in a forthcoming volume.

NOBODY will be sorry that Henry Villard has caught another grip on fortune. We may be permitted to express the hope that hereafter Mr. Villard will break off only as much as he can chew.

IF the course of President Garfield in the star route cases needed any vindication, it has received it from Thomas L. James and Wayne MacVeagh. Their testimony sheds a new light upon the integrity and spirit of the Garfield Administration.

AT the election in Kansas to fill the Haskell vacancy, Mr. Funston, the Republican candidate, was elected by five thousand majority, though his enemies made Free Trade the direct issue, and secured the aid of prominent Free Trade stumpers, sent from New York. This shows how the wind is blowing. Kansas was called a Free Trade State.

THE Democratic party is in a most distressful situation just now. Without leaders or principles, demoralized and divided, waiting from day to day for a lecture from Watterson or a new boom from Dana, the rank and file are entering upon the campaign hopeless, dismayed, and already beaten. The free trade juggling in Congress and the open sympathy with political murders is dismembering the party and the fragments are increasing in number as the days pass by.

A Commendable Action.

We refer with peculiar pleasure to the action of the managers of the Presbyterian hospital in Philadelphia last week in refusing to accept a gift of $2500 tendered them by the managers of the charity ball in that city, because the money thus accumulated is what that church believes to be the "wages of sin." In coming to this conclusion they gain the admiration of all conscientious people, for whether balls and dancing are sinful or not, so long as a society of people consider them to be so it would be wrong for them to profit by such amusements. We admire this action, because it is so seldom that true principles and conscientious scruples receive such a brilliant exemplification when money is in the question. The action which we praise is not the condemnation of those amusements about which good people differ, but in adhering to their principles in this age of the world when it is often quite difficult to do so, and we predict that they will gain a hundred-fold by the action. It is such an action as should win the admiration of those who respect a bold, fearless, Christian life, and we shall not be surprised if the need of money which the hospital really experiences is met with rich gifts from those who are able to bestow them. On this subject, the Philadelphia North American speaks in about as liberal a manner as newspapers are accustomed to speak on such subjects. It says: The managers of the Presbyterian Hospital, whatever may be thought of their scruples, are at least entitled to the credit which belongs to those who have the courage of their opinions. They have just demonstrated the sincerity of their convictions in an unusually substantial and impressive manner. It is seldom, indeed, that any church or charitable institution to which a donation has been offered feels impelled by conscientious motives to scrutinize too closely the sources of the contemplated gift. They are ordinarily too much in need of money to be over-particular as to the origin of such contributions as may be put within their reach, and are very apt to take the cash without asking any awkward questions.

The authorities of the Presbyterian Hospital have taken a course which forms a striking exception to the general rule. There is no reason to suppose that they are so fortunately situated as to be independent of the contributions of the charitably inclined, yet they have just refused to accept the very handsome sum of $2500, which was offered them as their share of the proceeds of the late charity ball at the Academy of Music, because the manner in which that sum was raised is not in accordance with the teachings and discipline of the Church. After having given due credit to the fortitude involved in this excessively conscientious act of renunciation, there are not many people beyond the inner circle of the straitest sect of Presbyterianism who will not regard the act of the hospital authorities as a foolishly Quixotic piece of business. The money has been refused because such entertainments as that of which it was the proceeds have at various times been condemned by synods and conferences of the Presbyterian denomination as being incompatible with the Christian life as it is regarded from the Presbyterian stand point.

THE Star Route frauds have been revived again by the evidence given by ex-Postmaster General James and ex-Attorney General MacVeagh before the Springer investigating committee. This testimony shows that the preparations for a successful prosecution of the thieves were almost completed at the time of the sad death of President Garfield. MacVegah also relates much that is interesting regarding his resignation of the office of attorney-general.

BLAINE'S boom is growing.

Barbarous Democracy.

Everybody is interested in the resolution introduced by Senator Sherman, asking for an investigation into the election outrages in Virginia and Mississippi, although the opening of a discussion on such a subject was at first received with disfavor. Now, remarks the Philadelphia Press, an entire change is evident, and where there was listlessness and aversion formerly there is now keen attention and watchful interest.

The Democratic senators cast a solid vote against the passage of the Sherman resolution; and well they might, for nothing in all the history of the Democracy illustrates more strikingly its essential barbarism than the facts developed by these investigations. The Danville riot is revolting enough but it lacks many of the cold-blooded features of the Copiah murder. The telegraph has each day spread over the country the testimony of the witnesses given before the committee now sitting in New Orleans. The fact is proved, and not denied even by witnesses called by the Democrats themselves, and that the only crime of the man Matthews consisted in his demanding the right to vote himself, and that the colored men should be granted the same privilege. He was warned by a committee of Democrats that if he persisted in casting a Republican ballot on election day his life would pay the penalty of his courage. He chose to disregard the warning and voted, but he had not had time to make room for the next voter before he was shot down like an ox by a man chosen "by lot" to do the deed. The murderer was thanked at a public meeting, and soon after elected to a local office. This, in brief, is the story of the Copiah County election outrage.

The intelligent American freeman, as he reads the story of this brutal murder, will not stop to vent his just wrath upon the miserable assassin who loaded his gun with buckshot and took a cowardly advantage of the man he was selected to kill. Nor will he stop to parley with the wretches who endorsed the deed, and stand ready, according to their own testimony, to repeat it, even if General Grant himself should exercise the right of every American citizen and do what Matthews did. The American public will brush aside these miserable murderers and look behind and beyond them at the political organization which supports them and reaps the fruit of their crimes. It is the Democratic party which will be indicted at the court of public opinion as the chief culprit in this business of bulldozing and murder. The leaders of that party know to-day that they have only to speak the word and these outrages will cease. But they know also that their only road to power is by such lawless acts, and they will silently acquiesce, as in the past. They greatly misjudge the sense of justice of the American people, however, if they expect to escape the full measure of punishment meted out to the prepetrators of, and partners in, such crimes.

AN extremely benevolent lady, Mrs. Margaret Crocker, of California, relict of Judge E. B. Crocker, sometime Justice of the State Supreme Court and later chief counsel to the Central Pacific Railroad Company, has just completed and handed over to trustees an admirably equipped and appointed Home for Aged Gentlewomen at Sacramento. The house and endowments cost $100,000, and Mrs. Crocker intends to add other buildings in the future. Every inmate of the home will have a well furnished and comfortable room to herself, and there are parlors, reception and dining-rooms to be used in common. Pictures and books have been liberally supplied, and there is every reason to believe that the old ladies will be comfortable in their retreat.

THE mission to Russia, the First Assistant Secretaryship of the Treasury and the Solicitorship of the Treasury are all good places and they are all vacant. President Arthur of course, will put them where they will do the most—for the country.

MR. HENRY WATTERSON, the versatile editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal, thinks Mr. Morrison has done wisely to ask for what he can get rather than for what he wants. He reminds Mr. Randall that it may be easier to get outside of the Democratic party than to get back again, and he says to his Democratic countrymen that this is the last chance of Free Trade to fight for life. Mr. Watterson also says that he would prefer Republicanism pure and simple to the form of it labelled "Philadelphia Democracy." Looking at the future of the Democratic party in the light thrown upon the situation by Mr. Watterson, nothing stands out so distinctly as the probability of the party's dismemberment and final absorption by its more powerful rival, which is more powerful because it is oftener right. In the first place, Mr. Watterson tells us, though the information is not new, that the Morrison bill is but the first stage on the journey over which the Free-traders would like to lug the Democratic party. Then, if Mr. Randall and those Democrats who think with him offer opposition and fail, they are to be read out of the party. If Mr. Randall succeeds, Mr. Watterson threatens to go into the Republican party voluntarily. His expression of a preference for Simon pure Republicanism can have no other meaning. In either case the Republican party is likely to absorb a considerable portion of the minority party. If Mr. Watterson is correct, the Republican party will absorb one portion of its rival at one time and another portion at another time, and Mr. Watterson will, probably, find it as difficult as Mr. Ran all will to get back to a Democracy which the same authority says is making its last fight for Free Trade. When this fight is fought and lost would it not be well for the Democratic party to die in its last ditch?

THE annual report of the president and managers of the Pennsylvania railroad to their stock holders, points the conclusion of another successful year in the operations of Pennsylvania's great improvement, and the exhibit it makes cannot be but gratifying to the shareholders, and matter of pride to all Pennsylvanians. To the shareholders because it is demonstration that their investments are judiciously and honestly husbanded, and to all our citizens because the road is peculiarly a Pennsylvania institution. This report covers the operations of the main line branches and leased lines east of Pittsburg and Erie, and shows total earnings $32,017,813,19, and total expenses $18,373,359.52, leaving the net income for the year $11,943,431.72, dividends of 8.5 per cent. amounting to $7,520,649.75, and leaving a large credit to the profit and loss account. The above is the business done over 2,036 miles of railroad and 66 miles of canals and shows the wonderful impulse this improvement has given to trade throughout the region it has developed. The report is full of interesting and valuable information, and suggestive of a fact that is not mentioned by the managers, but which is frequently on the lips of those who use the road, viz; that it is the best managed road for the traveling public in the country—probably in the world.

UNIONTOWN now has the most remarkable sensation which even that place has ever known. The jury that acquitted Dukes has sued the Republican-Standard newspaper for libel. We did not believe it was possible to libel these gentlemen and think that they have made a mistake. The worst that can be said about them but half expresses the truth. If one paper can be sued every paper in the land is liable to the legal vengeance of these persons, and all papers might aid the Republican-Standard, if indeed it needs aid. Outside of Fayette county no indictment for libel in which these individuals are plaintiffs could possibly be found.

THE Republicans won a decisive victory in Elmira on Tuesday, the 4th, their candidate for mayor, Mr Henry Flood, received a majority of 362 votes. That's not only a flood, but a genuine deluge.

Tariff Talk.

THE Committee of Ways and Means has "favorably considered" Morrison's tariff measure. They deserve severe censure for having done this much to precipitate another tariff agitation on the country. To be sure it places salt, coal and lumber on the free list and introduces a proviso with respect to coal that it shall not apply to Canada until that country places our coal on the free list, but even that will not make amends for further tariff tinkering. We share the pleasure that the Farmer's Friend seems to feel over the fact that "present indications point to the early defeat of this measure, and upon this rests the hope that there will be no permanent disturbance of the business interests of the country. It is said that Mr. Randall will lead the opposition to the bill. Should this be the case the distinguished gentleman from Philadelphia will not only be carrying out his life-long convictions and publicly expressed sentiments, but he will prove his true greatness as a statesman, by refusing to permit party caucus ties to influence him against the workingmen and farmers of the country, in whose behalf he has always heretofore been found zealously and persistently laboring.

"It is also confidently asserted that Mr. Hopkins, Democratic member from Pittsburg, has said that the Morrison bill will surely be defeated and that he will sustain Mr. Randall in his efforts to this end. The country will breathlessly await the final vote on this bill, for so long as it is held in abeyance business men will be kept in doubt and uncertainty, and many laborers remain unemployed."

Garfield.

The most striking passage in the testimony before the Springer Committee on Tuesday was ex-Postmaster General James' description of the scene in the White House when he and Attorney General MacVeagh advised caution in the management of the Star Route cases, suggesting civil suits instead of criminal prosecutions. They urged upon President Garfield that it might expose corruption in high places, strike the men who claimed to have elected him and perhaps change the political complexion of the Senate. The President faced about from his agitated striding to and fro and sternly replied:

"No; I am sworn to execute the law. Bring criminal actions, no matter where or whom they strike."

The few short, stern words of that interview will live without fading alongside the most brilliant, the most exalted sentences of the orator-President.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

REV JOSEPH COOK has again caused a disturbance among the light-brained folks of Keene, N. H. It appears that because the eloquent and learned Joseph consented to lecture in that place the minister of the Congregational church also insisted upon piloting him to all his church services and when his distinguished friend protested the man hung around until he became a positive bore, and Rev. Cook used somewhat harsh and imperative measures with him. After Rev. Cook accompanied the minister to the church the latter insisted upon his guest conducting the entire service which so incensed and disgusted Rev. Joseph that he left the church to escape the imposition.

A GENTILE young lady in Baltimore became a Jewess the other day by marrying a member of that race, which ought to off-set the Wilkesbarre Hebrew maiden who married a Gentile and abjured the faith of her youth not more than two weeks ago. These two events so opposite in their character should keep the world even. It will be observed that a girl is the offender and the moving cause is a man in each instance. This proves that in numerous cases a girl's desire to marry is stronger than her religion.

The Psychological Journal gives the increase of the number of insane persons in the United States at, from 1850 to 1860, 8432; 1860 to 1870, 13,790; 1870 to 1880, 54,565. The whole number of our insane is given at 91,907; idiots, 98,865. More than one-half are not under hospital treatment.

A wonderful revival of religion is now in progress in the M. E. church in Lewistown Rev. N. S. Buckingham, pastor, is assisted by Rev. T. Ogle, of Philadelphia. Within less than five weeks 188 persons have professed saving faith in the world's Redeemer, and penitents crowd the altar nightly. The interest seems unabated.

Chicago hotel-keepers say they will not reap such a rich harvest from the two Conventions as many people may suppose. "When you take into consideration," said one of them the other day, "the carpet spoiled, furniture broken, and chinaware smashed by the delegates, we won't have a very large balance on the credit side of our ledger."

The annual rainfall in this country, according to the Weather Signal, is lowest in New Mexico (13 inches) and California (18 inches), and highest in Oregon (40) and Alabama (56). New York's new water supply will cost from $25,000,000 to $30,000,000. The works will be located in Westchester County, 35 miles from the city. A dam 250 feet high will form a reservoir of fifty-eight billion gallons capacity. New York City daily consumes 100,000,000 gallons of water, and when the new reservoir is completed the capacity for storage will reach 400,000,000 gallons daily.

Base-ball making is one of those quiet industries which attract little or no attention from the busy world, but prove unusually remunerative to those engaged in them. Last year over 5,000,000 balls were manufactured in this country; and as the makers now have a larger number of orders than ever before, it is estimated that 7,000,000 base balls will be knocked into the great nowhere the coming season.

Foreign laborers who come to this country usually have such outlandish names that no timekeeper can get them in a book. For that reason they are numbered. Recently the number 13 was assigned to an Italian. He at once became nervous, declaring it would bring him ill luck. So heavy did it prey on his mind that he had concluded to notify the contractor that he would quit work if his number was not changed. Before he had time to do so a grave bank caved in on him. He was taken out dead and his body sent to the contractor at Schenectady, with the request that the deadly number be dropped henceforth.

Poetry.

PUMPKIN PIES.

Gentle stranger, let me ask,
Did you ever stop to bask
In the atmosphere of cooking
When a maiden fair is looking,
Askancely from the depths
Of her limpid, azure eyes—
As she shovels in the big oven
Those delicious pumpkin pies?

Ah, what ecstacies appealing,
As aromas, gently stealing,
Permeate the rural kitchen
Whose confines hold a fair witch in—
Fascinating, dainty, rare,
'Fore your 'toxicated eyes.
'Tis the maiden, flour laden,
Manipulator of the pies.

Pumpkin pies! What memories rise
Even to the sunny skies,
As she opens 'fore your eyes,
The big oven she did shovel in
Those delicious pumpkin pies.

Golden orbs of luscious glory!
Never had the world a story
Fairer to the heart of man,
Ay! to hearts of mortal clan,
Than the manuscript in yellow
Hot and toothsome 'fore your eyes,
And I fain would long to spell, oh,
Worldly bliss—in pumpkin pies.

Quarter, half, the whole, oh, give it;
I could dwell in bliss and live it
In an hour such as this,
Ah, forevermore I wis—
Sitting by the stove in kitchen
Whose confines hold a fair witch in,
Fascinating, dainty, rare,
Askancely glancing from her eyes,
At me, over pumpkin pies.

HOW HE WAS WOUNDED.

It was a badly battered boy
Who came before his teacher,
With more of anguish than of joy
Depicted in each feature,
And too dejected to an oy
Or harm the smallest creature.

His head was bandaged round and round
His right arm braced with splinters;
Two sticks upheld him from the ground—
(Not those held up by printers),
He looked as if he had been bound
In irons a hundred winters.

"Great Cæsar!" gasped the pedagogue,
Upon the youngster gazing;
"I see in you a catalogue
Of accidents amazing!
Have you been fighting with a dog,
Or some new scholar hazing?"

"Can it be true that you have saved
A fellow from a fire?
Or, peradventure, you have craved
To gain some wild desire,
And, failing in it, you have braved
A father's fiercest ire?"

The bunged-up boy bowed low his head—
He did not feel like boasting,
His frescoed face grew very red,
As though his form were roasting;
Then slowly, painfully he said,
"I did it, sir, while coasting."

Our Story Teller.

The Old, Old Story.

She was the proudest woman I ever knew. Poor and proud this Kathleen Langley; but, the adopted child of a very wealthy aunt, she had never felt the chilly blasts of poverty; probably never would, since now she was the betrothed of Arthur Fanshawe, and his name was good for a million.

I had been Kathleen's intimate friend and chosen companion ever since our schooldays; to me there had never been so true and dear a friend. But I could not shut my eyes to her besetting sin—pride. In vain I argued with her, lectured her on its evils. She had always listened patiently, but with a sarcastic gleam in her brown eyes, and when I had finished she would lay her head on my knee and smile up into my face mischievously.

"Dear old Mentor," she would say, "it's no use. Pride was the sole heritage left me, and, though it wreck all my happiness, I cannot conquer it."

One day she came to my side and held up one white finger encircled by a costly diamond ring. In answer to my startled look of inquiry she said slowly, as though it pained her:

"It is Arthur Fanshawe's ring, dear; I have promised to be his wife!"

"Arthur Fanshawe, the blase man of the world; a cynic, a sceptic, everything hard and unnatural. To throw away her youth, beauty and purity upon Arthur Fanshawe! It was a cruel thing.

"Oh, Kathie!" I cried, "tell me it is not true. You do not love him—I know it. Why, then, why do you make this sacrifice?"

Her red lip curled scornfully.

Then she went away, and when I saw her again she was in the midst of a gay group, lovely in her glittering ball dress, and Arthur Fanshawe was at her side, his hard, cold eyes lighted with the frosty gleams of a selfish love, his engagement to the fair New York belle publicly announced.

I knew then that the match had been of her Aunt Langley's making; that her ambition for her beautiful niece had at last attained the height of a wealthy marriage, and that to induce Kathleen to submit she had contrived to make her realize her dependence. And Kathleen, feeling herself a burden on her bounty, grew

"Weary of eating another's bread,
And toiling up and down another's stairs."

Her pride had carried her through, and she had consented to the sacrifice.

Soon after Mrs. Langley projected a trip to Florida, and begged me to accompany her and Kathleen; Mr. Fanshawe of course was to follow.

We arrived safely at our destination, a romantic little town in the last stages of dilapidation.

We settled ourselves in a long, ambling cottage near the loveliest lake in the world, and enjoyed the semi-tropical climate to our heart's content.

We had not been there three days when Kathleen appeared, one morning, in the room where I was sitting with her aunt over our fancy work, looking charmingly in a short costume, with wide sun hat and gauntlet gloves.

"I'm going to learn to row, auntie, if you have no great objection," she began gayly.

"Who in the world is going to teach you?"

Kathleen glanced through the long French window to the shore, but a few rods away, where a tiny boat lay moored and a masculine figure lounged back among the cushions, lazily puffing a good cigar.

"Oh, I don't know his name," she laughed, scornfully. "One of the aborigines here. I have engaged his services at so much an hour, and for the rest, as Mr. Toots would say, it is of no consequence, auntie."

"I trust Mr. Fanshawe approves," began her aunt.

"I am not Mr. Fanshawe's property as yet," suggested Kathleen; and before another remark could be proffered she was out of the house, down the path, and off in the direction of the lake shore.

The boating lessons seemed to take up a great deal of her time and attention after that; but I never chanced to get a nearer view of her teacher, and, judging him by others of the native inhabitants, whom I had met, I felt very little interest in the unknown.

"Come, ladies," said Mr. Fanshawe, one day, "let us go out on the lake; I have a boat engaged and waiting your service."

We did not require a second invitation, and soon we gathered on the beach, where the lake spread out before us its broad, unruffled bosom, its green, cool lily-pads, and over all the blue, cloudless sky of a Florida midwinter, with the sun, like a great, untwinkling eye, staring lazily down upon us.

"Miss Langley," said a voice near us—a low, rich, sweet voice, like liquid music—"I beg your pardon for intruding, but that boat is unsafe. She has been for some time out of repair. I fear you will meet with some accident if you go out in her."

A young man stood at Kathleen's side, a tall, slender man, with a face like a picture, with great, slumberous dark eyes, and a nameless grace and fascination about him. But his dress was coarse and common, and his hands were embrowned with toil. With that wonderful face and figure, like some rare old statue, he was only a fisherman, after all!

Kathleen's face was flushed, and she glanced up timidly. But before she could say a word Mr. Fanshawe turned upon the intruder with a cool stare of insolence.

"What do you mean?" he demanded. "How dare you interfere in my affairs, sir?"

The young man raised his hat with a graceful bow.

"My name is Sanford," he said, quietly, "Ray Sanford. I live a mile above the beach. I am accustomed to the lake; I spend half my time upon it. I know all the boats; the one you have chosen is unsafe. If you go out in her you will certainly be drowned."

He put on his hat and walked away without another word. He was proud, too; it was easy to see that.

I glanced at Kathleen. She did not see me; her eyes were bent upon the graceful figure in its coarse dress moving down the shining sands.

I saw her clench her hands and set her teeth together, then her gaze encountered mine, and, slightly, she forced a smile.

'Are you ready, ladies?"

Mr. Fanshawe's voice broke the silence.

"Are you going in the boat?" asked Kathleen.

"To be sure. I am not foolish enough to pay heed to the croakings of yonder clodhopper. I'll teach him that I, too, understand managing a boat, if I don't spend half of my time on the lake."

"You are careless in you epithets, Mr. Fanshawe," observed Kathleen, frigidly; "mistaken, likewise. Mr. Sanford is a gentleman."

"You have the honor of his acquaintance, it seems?"

"Kathleen's eyes flashed, but she controlled her anger.

"He taught me to row," she answered, and said no more.

But she had said enough to set me to thinking.

Well, we yielded to the ruling power, and soon, seated in the pretty boat, were dancing over the merry water, far away from land.

It was a perfect day, and, full of life and gayety, we had forgotten all about young Sanford's warning, when suddenly there was a low exclamation of horror from Kathleen—

"The boat is filling with water! I do believe we are sinking!"

It was too true! The boat leaked at every seam; the water was pouring in; soon we should be beyond the reach of human aid.

I shall never forget that hour as long as I live. Fanshawe livid with fear, crouched in the bow of the boat and uttered never a word. Mrs. Langley wrung her hands and alternately shrieked and moaned—now praying, and now her voice drowned in a storm of sobs and tears. Kathleen sat like a statute of stone, her hands folded, her eyes bent on a spot far away.

On we drifted. The boat was rapidly filling; it was more than half full now.

I crept up to Kathleen and put my arms around her.

"Kathie, Kathie!" he cried, "we must die! Is it not dreadful?"

"There are worse fates on earth," she answered, her pale lips scarcely seeming to move, and still her brown eyes watched that tiny speck as it grew large; a man in a boat—a man bending all his energies to meet us.

A strange smile touched Kathleen's lips.

"Ray," she murmured, as though she had forgotten our presence, "Ray, I knew you would come to us in our distress."

It was indeed Ray Sanford, and he was rowing with the strength of a giant and the energy of a man determined to win or die.

He reached us at last not a moment too soon. I aroused Mrs. Langley from a fit of incoherent sobbing and ejaculating, and pointed to our rescuer. He stood up in his boat and had Kathleen in his arms in an instant. Then he turned to Mrs. Langley and me. Fanshawe followed us, and soon we were all safe in his boat—saved from a dreadful death.

Not a word was spoken during the long run home. Kathleen never looked at Ray; she seemed unconscious of his presence.

When we reached the shore she dropped from the boat unassisted, as though she did not see the young man's proffered arm.

Fanshawe, safe on shore, was himself again. Turning to Sanford he took a banknote from his pocket, and tendered it to the young man.

"Here," said he, in a cold, insulting tone, "you've helped us out of a scrape; allow me to——"

But he never finished. Ray Sanford struck the money from his hand, and then, without a word, strode off down the shining beach. After that we saw him no more.

It was the evening before our intended departure, and we two walked alone on the beach. The sun was setting, dropping slowly down its golden ladder into fleecy cloud banks of scarlet and amber, up and down we paced, neither of us speaking. So the sun set and the twilight gathered.

Suddenly the form of a man rose before us in the gray twilight. He came straight up to Kathleen, and held out both his hands.

She laid both her own within them. There was a sweet smile on her lips; her eyes were luminous.

"Is it good-bye?" she said softly.

"Never!" he cried, fiercely. "Tell me, Kathleen, is it true; are you going to marry that man—that Fanshawe?"

A sneering laugh fell upon our ears; Fanshawe stood beside us.

"A pretty scene!" he sneered. "A flirtation between my betrothed wife and a common fisherman!"

With a face like marble and eyes like flashing diamonds Kathleen slipped her engagement ring from her finger and laid it in Arthur Fanshawe's hand, saying coldly:

"I have worn it too long, Mr. Fanshawe."

Ere Fanshawe could recover from his amazement Ray Sanford spoke.

"And who told you, Mr. Fanshawe, that I was but a common fisherman? Not that I attach any ignominy to the vocation, which has been followed by some of the noblest and grandest heroes of earth; but, unfortunately, I have no claim to the title. I am merely passing a few months on the Florida coast, roughing it, that I might regain the health and strength that had unaccountably deserted me. I leave soon for my home in the North. You have heard of Hugh Sanford, of Boston?"

"A merchant prince!" ejaculated Fanshawe, beginning to move away.

"He is my father," said Ray Sanford, coolly; and bending over Kathleen, who stood clinging to me, he continued, while Fanshawe slunk on through the evening shadows, "Kathleen, say you forgive me my unintentional deception. I had known you a week or more before I realized the full extent of my guilt. Forgive me, for I love you so!"

Her head was on his shoulder, his arm around her. They had forgotten all about me, and I went home alone.

Didn't Keep It.

A few days since a stranger eating dinner in an Idaho hotel, and beckoning a waiter to him said:

'Bring me a glass of water.'

'Sir?' And the nonplussed waiter looked at him curiously.

'Bring me a glass of water.'

The waiter went out into the kitchen and soon returned and said:

'Beg pardon, stranger, but that last order of yours has slipped my memory.

What is it you want?

'I—want—a—glass—of—water! Do you understand that?'

A bright idea struck the waiter, and he rushed out to the bar. The barkeeper looked over the labels on every bottle in the house, shook his head and said there wasn't a drop in stock. The waiter returned to the gentleman and reported, whereupon the latter roared out:

"You infernal idiot, can't you understand plain English! I want a glass of water—water to drink—and I want it quick!"

In desperation the waiter hunted up the proprietor and told him the story. The landlord looked puzzled, and himself entered the dining room and approached the stranger and said:

"Excuse me, sir, but my waiter is a little hard of hearing. I will take your order."

"I ordered a glass of water. Nothing but straight water."

"I'm sorry," replied the landlord, but I can't accommodate you. There is so little call for those foreign drinks here that it doesn't pay to keep them. We've got some prime Kentucky whiskey at the bar, if you can get along on that."

The stranger finished his meal in silence.—Bismarck Tribune.

NOTES.

What is Discovery or Invention?—Discovery is the finding of something heretofore unknown. Invention is the contriving of a device which performes some original function.. The mere conception of an idea is not discovery or invention. Such idea must be reduced to practical form by a successful test of its operation, and does not pass absolutely from the domain of experiment until it has been actually used; such as, for example, the making of a model.

What is a Patent?—A patent, or Letters-Patent, is an official document issued by a government, confering upon an invention the exclusive right and privilege to make, use, and sell an invention for a specified term of years. In the United States the term of a patent is seventeen years, and is legally defined to be "a contract between the patentee and the public," and, "it is to be understood as including in reference to the description of the thing patented, the patent, the specification attached, with the model and drawing in the Patent Office."—Hogg vs. Emerson, 6 How. 478, Judge Woodbury, Sup, Ct. 1847.

Who May Obtain a Patent—Any person, whether citizen or foreigner, of either sex, including minors, who has first discovered or invented any new and useful art, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereon; may obtain a patent for such discovery or invention. Patents are granted to the inventor alone, to inventors jointly, to assignees, and to executors or administrations.

Little Inventions—Very large fortunes are often realized from what are termed "little inventions." Ready sales and adaptibility to public use, is the truest test of the value of an invention; and no matter how trifling it may at first seem, should it save time and labor or cater to the ease or pleasures of the public, such an invention is certain to yield the owner a fortune.

Employers and Workmen—Employers have no claim upon the inventions of their workmen, unless it can be proven that said workmen were especially employed to bring out such inventions. When an inventor has developed his invention so far as to make a model or article showing clearly the subject matter of such invention, and exhibit the same to one more skilled than himself, and the latter makes a machine and thereby produces the article, he will be considered as a skilled mechanic using knowledge imparted to him by another, and not as the inventor of the article. Winter vs. Wet, 1 Webs. P. C., 132.

Abandoned Cases in the U. S. Patent Office—Are, first: Applications which have not been completed in the Patent Office within two years after the filing of the petit on; second: where applicants have failed to prosecute within two years after the last action in the case; and, third: where applicants have expressly abandoned cases, by "filing a letter of abandonment." Abandonment of an application should not be understood as abandonment of the invention. At the present time there are thousands of both "rejected" and "abandoned" applications in the Patent Office, which, without cause, have been permitted to become abandoned. All of these can be revived, and many inventions which are supposed to be lost, can be put into operation, whose usefulness and value would make their owners rich.

Benefits of Manufacturies—Factories of any nature, when successfully established, add to the wealth and prosperity of the places where they are located. An unimportant town is made a flourishing and productive city; while investment is furnished for capital; employment is given to workmen; land is enhanced in value and the farmer obtains a market for his produce.

Fireproofing Theatres, &c.—The many large fires, with consequent loss of life and property, occurring in public places of amusement, should incite in some inventor to devise some means for their prevention. There is a blessing, fame, and money in such an invention.

Rolling Stocks of Railways—Statistics show that the rolling stocks of of the entire world consists of 66,000 locomotives, 120,000 passenger cars, and 500,000 freight cars. The capital invested on railways is about $20,000,000,000, and they aggregate 200,000 miles. 12,000 steamers, and 100,000 sailing vessels carry on the ocean commerce of the world.

Death of a Prominent Inventor—Hon. Lucius J. Knowles senior partner of the firm of Knowles & Gray, of Worcester, Mass., died suddenly at the Riggs House, in Washington, D. C., on the 25th inst., of heart disease. He was the inventor of the Knowles Steam Pump and Fancy Loom, and was an extensive manufacturer and owner of patents.

A Simple Point of Law.

When Webster was at the zenith of his career, a gentleman waited upon him one day to engage him for the defence in an important case at law, the amount at stake in the suit being $80,000. The gentleman asked Webster what the retaining fee would be.

"A thousand dollars."

"A thousand dollars!" exclaimed the gentleman.

"Yes. But think for a moment what I engage you to do sir. I do not only hold myself at your service in the matter, perhaps for a month or more, but I debar myself from accepting any offer, no matter how large from the plaintiff."

The applicant was satisfied with this explanation, wrote out a check for the amount and gave it to the great expounder who after he had put it into his pocket, said:

"I will give you a bit of advice gratis. If you can compromise this business upon fair terms with the plaintiff, you had better do so."

The client expressed his thanks, and took his leave. In a few days the gentleman called upon Webster again, and told him that a compromise had been affected, and the matter satisfactorily settled. Webster duly congratulated his visitor on the result, and would have turned to other business, but the visitor seemed to have something further on his mind.

"Of course," he ventured after a pause, "I shall not require your services, Mr. Webster."

"Certainly not, sir."

"And—how about the $1,000 I paid you?" faintly asked the gentleman, who was not quite reconciled to paying such a sum for services which were never to be rendered.

"Oh, ah!" responded Daniel, with a bland smile. That was a retaining fee—called in law, a 'retainer.' By virtue of the contract, I also became a retainer. What should I retain, if not my fee?"—Boston Globe.

Two Strange People.

Georgia is just now interested in two most peculiar personages. One is a living skeleton residing near Keno, Habershaw county. He is 22 years of age, is fully 6 feet in height, and only weighs 56 pounds in his clothes. The skin clings so closely to his bones that it has taken their shape and configuration in every part of his body. He is in perfect health and has never had a day of sickness. At the age of fifteen he only weighed 32 pounds. He eats with avidity, but his food is half digested. He has a perfect horror of himself, and never leaves his home. He is the son of an excellent citizen and his father and mother humor him in every wish. The other erratic individual lives in one of the upper counties of the State and always feels as if he was in the frigid instead of the temperate zone. Even in the hottest days of summer he wears all the clothing possible to protect him from the imagined cold. He was never wet by a rain in his life and never goes out at night without sheltering himself with an umbrella from the dew. No part of his food is ever eaten cold, and he often remarks that it is all he can do to keep himself from freezing. He is always seen on the streets clad in a heavy overcoat.

Vassar Bread.

"Bread!" exclaimed a Vassar college girl. "Bread! Well, I should say I can make bread. We studied that in our first year. You see the yeast ferments and gas thus formed permeates everywhere and transforms the plastic material into a clearly obvious atomic structure, and then—" "But what is the plastic material you speak of?" "Oh! that is commonly called the sponge." "But how do you make the sponge?" "Why, you don't make it; the cook always attends to that. Then we test the sponge with the thermometer and hydrometer and a lot of other instruments, the names of which I don't remember, and then hand it back to the cook, and I don't know what she does with it then, but when it comes on the table it is just splendid."

Farmers in Washington.

The committee of the Pennsylvania State Grange, consisting of the chairman of the Executive Committee, Master and Secretary, in pursuance of its duties visited the city of Washington on Wednesday, Feb. 20th, and remained there for several days. Through the courtesy of Hon. Samuel J. Randall, of Philadelphia, Hon. W. R. Morrison, of Illinois, Hon. W. D. Kelley, of Philadelphia, Hon. D. Wyatt Aiken, of South Carolina, and Hon. A. G. Curtin, of Pennsylvania, audience was had before the Congressional Committee of Ways and Means, Appropriations and Agriculture. Before the Committee on Ways and Means Worthy Past Master Piollet spoke with great earnestness for the agricultural interests. He said, "That it was an almost unheard of thing for farmers to leave their fields to appear in Washington before a committee of Congress; yet we are here from the great State of Pennsylvania, representatives of the great organization of the Patrons of Husbandry, to endeavor to impress upon the minds of the members of this Committee the fact that agriculture is entitled to the same measure of protection as manufacturers. We, the farmers, are the greatest consumers of woolen, iron and other manufactured goods, and as such we have a right to be heard. Home production of raw materials is as much a necessity to a country like this as are manufacturers. There can be no such thing in this country as Free Trade. The country must have a Tariff, and this Tariff should be so arranged as to give reasonable protection to American industry and labor. Wool, raw hides, sugar, mineral ores and all raw materials, the product of the earth, are entitled to protection; and remember, gentlemen, of the Committee, the country will hold you responsible for the manner in which you treat this question. I believe that the time is coming when sorghum will be successfully employed in producing the supply of sugar for this country. This interest should therefore be encouraged. Gentlemen, you must not take twenty per cent. off of the sugar. You will alienate a great many of your friends if you do."

Col. Piollet's remarks made a profound impression on the honorable Committee. He was asked many questions, which he answered with promptness, which evidently had the effect of enlightening the Committee on points in which they had heretofore been in ignorance. The full text of Col. Piollet's address will be printed by the Committee of Ways and Means, and we will then reproduce it in these columns. Worthy Master Rhone addressed the Committee as follows:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen: My colleague has so well presented the general principles involved as to the protection of American agriculture and its relation to the government that it is not necessary for us to go over the same ground. We have come here as a Committee of the Pennsylvania State Grange to represent to you the claims of the American farmer to the fostering care and protection of national legislation.

"The farmers are alarmed at the tendency of legislation toward the admission of raw materials, free of duty. We are alarmed at the disposition of American manufacturers demanding the free admission of raw material, while they are demanding protection on their own manufactures. The farmer being a producer of the raw material, this strikes directly at his industry. It is as much an American industry to produce the raw material as to manufacture it.

"We are annually importing over $285,000,000 worth of agricultural products that could be produced with a profit in our own country by the proper encouragement secured by national legislation. We import annually over $110,000,000 of sugar, one-third of all the wool manufactured in this country is brought from Australia, produced by cheap Coolie labor and English capital. We import over $10 000,000 of jute, $47,000 000 of tea, $24,000,000 of silk, all of which we have the soil and climate to produce by the proper encouragement of the Government. The only relief to the depression of American agriculture is to diversify our productions, creating new resources in the production of those agricultural products that we now import instead of sending abroad annually hundreds of millions of dollars. This can only be done by the Government properly protecting new industries and giving a fostering encouragement for their development."

The State Grange Committee urged the Committee on Agriculture to so legislate as to secure scientific investigation in the manufacture of sugar from sorghum, and further urged the necessity of the creation of a Department of Agriculture, whose head shall be a Secretary, and whose rank shall be that of other Cabinet officers.

The Committee of Appropriations was urged to make a special appropriation for the greater development of the agricultural resources of the country. Representatives were met in Washington from nearly all the industries of the country, each urging special claims for the advancement of their respective interests.

The Committee left Washington on Tuesday, Feb. 26th, feeling that its efforts will result in some good to the country at large and the farming interests in particular.

The Murderers of Lord Leitrim.

LONDON, March 4.—Nellis, the Irish informer, who surrendered yesterday to the Greenock police, states that the murderers of the Earl of Leitrim were Patrick McLaughlin, a traveling Fenian Head Centre, Thomas Hunt, and Michael McGinn. He said he heard McLaughlin confess that he shot Lord Leitrim. The murder was planned in London. The last he knew of McLaughlin's movements was that he went to Dublin in 1882 and gave Carey two knives and fifty pounds of secret society funds.

Browning's New Book.

LONDON, March 3.—Robert Browning has issued a new volume consisting of twelve poems in blank verse, connecting them with a lyrical prologue and epilogue. The work is distinguished by being the poet's direct speech to the readers, and not spoken, as hitherto, through dramatic characters.

The Fruits of Merit.

DR. HARTMAN & Co.—Please send me a lot of your books on the "Ills of life." I sell a great deal of your Peruna and Manalin. They are very highly spoken of in this part of the country. F. H. BESSMAN, P. M., Westford, Pa.

Dear Sir: I have taken half a dozen bottles of your Peruna and find it doing me great good.

THE GREAT DR. DIO LEWIS.

His Outspoken Opinion.

The very marked testimonials from College Professors, respectable Physicians, and other gentlemen of intelligence and character to the value of Warner's SAFE Cure, published in the editorial columns of our best newspapers, have greatly surprised me. Many of these gentlemen I know, and reading their testimony I was impelled to purchase some bottles of Warner's SAFE Cure and analyze it. Besides, I took some, swallowing three times the prescribed quantity. I am satisfied the medicine is not injurious, and will frankly add that if I found myself the victim of a serious kidney trouble I should use this preparation. The truth is, the medical profession stands dazed and helpless in the presence of more than one kidney malady, while the testimony of hundreds of intelligent and very reputable gentlemen hardly leaves room to doubt that Mr. H. H. Warner has fallen upon one of those happy discoveries which occasionally bring help to suffering humanity.

Miscellaneous.

Mother's Spinning Wheel.

Concerning One Article that was Not For Sale and Another which is Cheap at Any Price.

"No, sir, I wouldn't sell you that for any money; that spinning-wheel was my mother's. It was one day, when she was singing like a lark and making this old wheel hum, that my father, then a young medical student, afterwards a farmer, fell in love with her—some fifty years ago."

So spoke the proprietor of a rough bit of farm land in Ulster county, N. Y., to a relic-hunter, and "mother's" spinning-wheel remained among her children and grand children.

"My mother," writes Rev. J. W. Phelps, pastor of St. Paul's M. E. Church, Chicago, "has used PARKER'S TONIC, and wishes me to say that she has found it more effective than anything she ever used for invigorating and strengthening the system debilitated by malaria. She desires me also especially to mention the certainty with which it aids digestion and overcomes exhaustion."

Ever since the first household was established "mother's" opinion has been more potent in this world than that of judge, jurist or physician. Her hand has always cooled the fever and her voice has been filled with hope. With each day's decline PARKER'S TONIC is becoming more deservedly popular with the women who guard alike husband and children. It eradicates malarial poison from the blood, from which there is now such widespread suffering.

Please observe: DR. PARKER'S TONIC is not an intoxicant. It is a combination of several ingredients, of which none singly can produce anything like its effect. For Kidney, Stomach and Liver troubles it is the standard and unfailing remedy. In two sizes; 50 cents and $1. The latter the cheaper. HISCOX & Co., Chemists, New York. 15-18-1y

How Watch Cases are Made.

Most persons have an ambition to carry a gold watch case, and yet few people know how a watch case is made, or the vast difference in the quality of them. In a SOLID GOLD WATCH CASE, aside from the necessary thickness for engraving and polishing, a large proportion of the metal is needed only to stiffen and hold the engraved portions in place, and supply strength. The surplus is not only needless, but undesirable, because gold is a soft metal and cannot furnish the stiffness, strength and elasticity necessary to make the case permanently strong and close-fitting. The perfect watch case must combine gold with some metal that will supply that in which the gold is deficient. This has been accomplished by the James Boss' Gold Watch Case TRADE MARK. which saves the WASTE of needless gold, and INCREASES the SOLIDITY and STRENGTH of the case, and at the same time reduces the cost ONE HALF.

Send 2 cent stamp to Keystone Watch Case Factories, Philadelphia, Pa., for handsome Illustrated Pamphlet showing how James Boss' and Keystone Watch Cases are made.

Lynch Law in Kentucky.

SOMERSET, Ky., March 5.—The exciting news has just been brought here that a body of respectable citizens have organized to drive George and William Carter and William Troxtill out of the state. The organization meets regularly in a church in the Harrison School District. The obnoxious personages have just been tried for the murder of young Harvey Russell and acquitted by the jury. Young Russell lived in the far West, and was home visiting his old father, when he was cruelly assassinated. He was found dead in the woods with twenty-four stabs in his body.

Those who know the circumstances best have no doubt of the guilt of the persons tried for the offense. They have been served with a notice to quit the state, signed by one hundred members of the organization, who threaten violence if they do not leave at once. Troxtill has already left for parts unknown, but the Carters refuse to go, and with the advice of attorneys, say they will shoot every man whose name is appended to the notice that approaches them in the least suspicious manner. The case was quite a celebrated one, and, as the Carters are known to be desperate and determined men, a tragedy will probably end the matter. Troxtill is a relative of the Troxtill recently lynched in this county for felonious assault.

Gen. Moorhead's Death.

PITTSBURGH, March 6.—General James Kennedy Moorhead died this morning at half past 10 at his residence on Centre avenue. General Moorhead has been ill for several months, and his death was expected several times when it seemed as though the disease had reached its climax. Although he was 78 years of age, he was strong and hearty up to seven or eight months ago, when he was taken ill with what was supposed to be cancer of the stomach After his illness fastened itself upon him he began slowly sinking, and latterly could not digest food. At one time he seemed much better and was seen in his old haunts and heartily welcomed by his old friends Then came a change for the worse, and since that time he had not left his home. He did not lose his conciousness, but was cheerful and courageous up to the last. Just before his death he recognized the members of his family, who were all present, and also several intimate friends.

Seriously Burned.

COLUMBIA, S. C., March 5.—Gov. Thompson's eldest daughter, Miss Carrie, met with a serious accident at the Executive Mansion to-night. While sitting in front of an open grate, reading a book, her dress caught fire, and in an instant she was enveloped in flames. The Governor, who was in another room, hearing her screams, ran to her assistance, and with difficulty extinguished the flames by throwing a cloak over her. Miss Thompson is badly burned about the lower portions of her body. The attending physician, however, does not apprehend a fatal result.

Preparing for Tornadoes.

ROCHESTER, Minn., March 5.—The recent tornadoes in the South have warned our citizens to be prepared for the worst. Tornado insurances are being taken out, and cyclone cellars contracted for all over the city to be finished as soon as possible. The form of cellar that finds the most favor is an arched passage leading from the house cellar, preferably on the west side, with a trap door giving access to the open air.

Money Stolen from a Railroad Office.

CHICAGO, March 7.—Last Saturday, about 1 o'clock in the afternoon, Paymaster C. S. Barlett, of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad, left his office for lunch without taking the precaution to close the combination of the big safe in which the money for payment of employes was deposited. On leaving the room he did so without waiting the return of the other attaches of the office, who had all gone to lunch. Before his return the safe was robbed of all its contents, with the exception of some packages of nickles and small change, the amount disappearing, as near as the company officials can estimate, being $27,000.

On the facts becoming known and an investigation being instituted, Paymaster Barlett was discharged from the service of the company for negligence and the matter placed in the hands of detectives. An effort was made to keep the affair secret, in the hope that the detectives would be facilitated in their work, but the affair becoming known and the belief that exaggerated statements would be published concerning the robbery, the officials showed a willingness that the exact facts be furnished the public. The theory advanced by the treasurer of the company is that the robbery was accomplished by a sneak thief. Two doors lead into the cashier's office from a vacant room, one of which was found ajar on the paymaster's return.

The Paymaster's room is located in the general offices of the company on the second floor of the building, and was constructed especially with a view to guard against the intrusion of thieves, but in this instance the most ordinary precaution had been ignored. The explanation given by the paymaster is that he supposed the vacant room adjoining his office was always kept locked but in this case it proved otherwise. This door was closed to and adjoining the vault in which the safe was located. When the paymaster left the room the cashier of the company and an assistant, who occupy practically the same room but sit at desks somewhat removed from the vault and in an angle which partially conceals the entrance to the vault, so that one entering from the vacant room could have accomplished the robbery without their knowledge. The paymaster presumes the robbery must have been committed by some one having complete knowledge of the room and the habits of its occupants.

Lucky Joe Wilson's Escape.

LENOIR, N. C., March 6.—One of the most adroit escapes known in criminal history was effected to-day by Lucky Joe Wilson, the chief of a gang of desperadoes who have infested this State. Wilson was, after many fights, caught and sentenced to ten years in the penitentiary. On Tuesday his counsel obtained an appeal to the Supreme Court. Early this morning the warden of the jail entered his cell and found Lucky Joe lying on his mattress, which was covered with blood, as was the prisoner's shirt and mouth. His eyes were wide open and staring, his jaws fallen, and his limbs cold. Help was summoned, and the body was carried from the cell into an outhouse, laid out for burial, and placed in a plain coffin. The mother and sister of Wilson stood by the coffin and bewailed his untimely end. At dusk this evening, when every one had left the apartment, save his sister, she was horrified to see the corpse rise from the coffin, put his hands ominously on his lips and bolt from the room. She screamed and fainted. The ruse was not discovered until an hour afterward and Lucky Joe had succeeded in eluding all pursuit.

A visit to his cell showed how artfully the escape had been planned. Wilson had killed a chicken and saturated himself with the blood Then ripping open the mattress, he concealed the chicken in it. He had scraped in a lot of snow and ice from the cell window, and kept his hands and feet well frozen in it, and when he heard footsteps in the corridor he threw the snow into a bucket. Therefore, when the jailer entered he found Wilson's feet and hands so cold as to leave no doubt of his death.

Panic in Oil.

PITTSBURGH, March 6.—Two small failures here, and the inability of Arthur Lowery, one of the heaviest dealers in Oil City, to meet the contracts, and the subsequent selling out of fifty thousand barrels of his oil under the rule, unsettled the oil market to-day and created a panicky feeling. Opening sales were made at 99¾, followed by a steady decline of 98¼, when there was a reaction of 99½, closing a trifle firmer at these figures. The failures here were settled later by friends of the parties, who made good the losses.

Favorably Acted Upon.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—The house committee of ways and means to-day acted favorably upon the Morrison tariff bill as agreed upon. It places salt, coal and lumber on the free list. A proviso with respect to coal is to the effect it shall not apply to Canada until that country places our coal on the free list.

They Want to Raise Still More.

PHILADELPHIA, March 6.—At the meeting of the citizen's committee at the mayor's office yesterday afternoon, it was reported that the fund to aid the sufferers by the recent flood in the Ohio Valley amounted to $20,000. The committee are anxious to raise $8,000 more.

Damage by Storm.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., March 9.—When darkness came last night the storm, which had been only a drizzle during the day, increased to a pouring rain and continued throughout the night, and at the same time the mercury dropped below the freezing point, so that at daybreak this morning everything out of doors was heavily coated with ice. The trees and shrubbery presented a novel sight. All were crowned and sheeted with a layer of ice nearly half an inch thick, and the branches and boughs of the trees gave way under the heavy loads of ice, and bowed down, in many instances sweeping the sidewalks and roadways. Telegraph and telephone wires were not only coiled with ice half an inch thick, but also closely fringed with icicles hanging to them four or five inches in length. All the morning telegraph and telephone wire and branches of trees, and now and then whole trees, were destroyed or torn down by the immense weight of the ice upon them. At the Western Union offices they refused messages because all communication north and south had ceased and the operators could do no business. As fast as a break was repaired there would be three or four more.

Reports coming in to-night add to damage described above. A gentleman named Wicklow, who has a nursery near Milton, states that great destruction of fruit trees in the fruit districts of Marlborough, Milton, Clintondale, New Paltz and other places in Ulster county has occurred. Cherry trees and apple trees are also destroyed in large numbers. Western Union linemen who have been out all day repairing say that passing through forests the snapping of boughs of trees and the crackling of ice are incessant, and sounded like volleys of musketry. The ice storm seemed to have been lighter south of West Point, but from the latter place north to Albany the ice covering is full as heavy as it is here, and there is ruin and destruction among the trees in every county on both sides of the river.

Manitoba Voting for Secession.

OTTAWA, March 7.—The publication here of the fact that secession resolutions have passed the Manitoba Convention caused not a little excitement. The resolutions are so strong and uncompromising, condemning all of the Manitoba representatives who have in any way favored the Government that they arouse suspicions that the Convention has been manipulated for party purposes. The Government is in consultation with Manitoba representatives, and probably will yield a great deal to Manitoba's demands.

It is rumored that Sir John Macdonald is indifferent to the demands of the people of Monitoba. He is convinced that the whole agitation has been prompted by a few adventurers who wish to blackmail the Government into giving them positions. He says he knows their prices, but does not feel like buying just now. The Manitoba representatives, on the other hand, are fully alive to the gravity of the situation, and are urging the Government so concede to the just demands of the province before it is too late.

A Hunt After Cash.

COLUMBIA, S. C., March 9.—Last night a posse of twelve armed men left this place under orders from the Governor to proceed to Chesterfield county and capture W. B. Cash, who shot and killed W. H. Richards, town marshall of Cheraw, and whom the governor had proclaimed a fugitive from justice. The posse arrived at Cash's place early this morning and at once surrounded the house. Col. E. B. Cash, father of the fugitive, was taken into custody. Meanwhile Bogar Cash, who had been sleeping in an out house on the premises, effected his escape.

Railroad Travel Blockaded.

LACONIA, N. H., March 9.—Two feet of snow fell in this part of the state last night. All morning trains are from two to six hours late. To-day a strong wind drifted the snow badly and entirely blockaded railroad travel in this vicinity. On the Boston, Concord and Montreal railroad three trains are blocked at Lake Village, two at Plymouth, and two locomotives are derailed near Weirs, where an attempt is being made to clear the tracks. All freight is delayed at way stations, and telegraph and telephone wires are prostrated.

General Grant on Crutches.

NEW YORK, March 6.—General Grant, accompanied by Mrs. Grant and by Miss Bessie Sharp, his niece, drove to the Pennsylvania Railroad Depot this evening and boarded Directors' car 21, of the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore Railroad which was attached to the Washington train. The General walked with the aid of crutches and dragged his left leg. His face was full and florid and excepting his lameness he seemed to be in good health. He expects to remain at Old Point Comfort, Va., for some time if the climate agrees with him.

Osman Digna will Fight.

SUAKIM, March 9.—Osmman Digna has finally refused to surrender to General Graham. He is determined to fight. He has two cannon and 1,000 rifles.

LONDON, March 9.—General Graham telegraphs that he will begin his march against Osman Digna on Tuesday at daybreak.

SUAKIM, March 9.—The "Black Watch" regiment made an advance of eight miles to-day, and are encamped in front of the enemy's lines. It is estimated that Osman Digna enrolled 6,000 men in Sinkat.

Terse Telegrams.

ASHLAND, March 6.—The smallpox at this place is on the increase. Several new cases are reported and great alarm is felt among the people. The Board of Health is doing all in their power to prevent the disease from spreading. A number of cases are reported at Mahonoy City.

PITTSBURG, March 7.—A district convention of the Amalgamated association will be held here to-morrow to consider a scale of wages of steel and iron workers for the ensuing year, from June 1st. It is the general opinion that no advance will be demanded and that the present scale will be adopted.

DES MOINES, Ia., March 7.—An accident occurred on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway near Astoria this afternoon by which an engineer and fireman were instantly killed and a brakeman fatally injured. The accident was caused by the breaking of a driving wheel of the engine, throwing the latter into a ditch.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—The Senate in executive session took up Senator Morgan's motion, made some weeks ago, to reconsider the vote by which the Mexican treaty failed of ratification. The motion was carried by a majority vote and next Monday was named as the day when the treaty will be taken up for discussion, with the understanding that it shall continue until the matter is disposed of.

Completing a Railroad.

CITY OF MEXICO, March 9.—The final spike in the Mexican Central railroad was driven yesterday on a broad plain six miles from Fresnillo, at 10 minutes to 5 in the afternoon, in the presence of a distinguished assemblage. Their is now an unbroken railroad from Mexico City to the Rio Grande. Much enthusiasm was displayed and General Manager Robinson was warmly congratulated. The final spike was driven by Mr. Buckner, master track layer. The two locomotives, one from Mexico City and the other from the United States, decorated with the Mexican and American colors, approached until the cowcatchers met. Great energy has been displayed in the track laying. For the last three days three and one half miles were laid daily. Seventy-three miles were laid during the 26 working days in February and five hundred and twenty in the last twelve months. The road will be open for through traffic immediately. The first train will leave Mexico City next week.

Toronto's Year of Jubilee.

TORONTO, Ont., March 6.—To-day being the fiftieth anniversary of the incorporation of the the city, church bells were rung from 11 to 12 o'clock and at noon a salute of fifty guns was fired by the Toronto Field Battery. This afternoon the formal opening of the free library by the Lieutenant Governor took place and the Governor held a reception in the City Hall. In 1835 the city assessment was $934,000 and in 1884 $65,222,950. Then the population was 9,200 and in 1884 95,000.

Methodists at Wilmington.

WILMINGTON, Del., March 7.—In the Wilmington Methodist Episcopal Conference to-day Revs. J. H Caldwell and Charles Hill were chosen delgates to the General Conference. A third delegate remains to be chosen. Steps were taken towards forming a historical society and a Board of Managers chosen therefor. Rev. Henry Colclazer was made a supernumerary at his own request. He has been fifty six years in the itinerancy.

An Explosion.

NEW YORK, March 6.—Gas exploded in a vault below the Staat-Zeitung building on Tryon row. The cover was blown off the vault into the street and a number of windows were shattered in the building, causing a loss of several hundred dollars. A leak in one of the gas pipes caused the explosion. Heinrich Upper and Heinrich Buchman, two young men employed in a restaurant adjoining the vault, were seriously burned about the head, hands and arms.

An Extensive Snow Slide.

SALT LAKE, Utah, March 9.—On Friday night a snow slide half a mile wide, at Alta, swept away the works of the New Emma mine, killing Gus Lybecker, foreman; Siedde Wasdon, machinist, and brother; Samuel Prethers, Charles Colgreen and wife, Edward Crockett, Lottie P Leon, O. J. Johnson, U. S. Delano, Williard Stephenson and John Richardson. All the bodies except one have been recovered.

Arresting the Lynchers.

READVILLE, O., March 6.—The excitement in Sunday Creek Valley was again raised to a high pitch this morning by the coming of Sheriff Crosbrie with six deputies, who are now swearing in a force of men to arrest the remainder of the Hickey lynchers. This is the outgrowth of the McDevitt-O'Boylan trouble, as the parties to be arrested to-day are implicated in both mobs. It is feared a general outbreak may occur at any moment.

A Gale in Canada.

TORONTO, Ont., March 9.—A severe snow storm, with a northeasterly gale, prevailed in Ontario last night and this morning. The railways and highways are badly blocked and traffic is greatly interrupted.

A stiff southeasterly snow storm has prevailed at Halifax, N. S., all day. A steamer from the westward is reported off the harbor, being unable to enter on account of the storm.

ADDITIONAL LOCAL NEWS

—Still another society has been organized among the fashionable young folks. It is an Oyster Club, the aim being to unitedly attack the "delicious bivalves" twice a week and cause them to disappear as rapidly as possible. Well, the medicine men say that pedestrianism is a good exercise and that oysters, especially uncooked, are exceedingly nutritious, and between the Walking Club and Oyster Club the members thereof will bloom like the roses by the time Easter comes around. In regard to the Oyster Club, we are informed that neither President, Vice President nor Secretary have been elected, it not being considered desirable to have any one to direct or control the number of oysters to be eaten, or to keep a minute of them. In these details they will be a law unto themselves.

—There are very few good tenant houses in Bellefonte. In many instances the most outrageously high rents are demanded for houses that are not fit to live in. There seems to be but little public spirit among the landlords of our town. They think that those who cannot afford to own their own houses should be content to live in the meanest hovel. In this as well as in some other respects, residence in the city has an advantage over residence in Bellefonte, for in Philadelphia, for instance, neat dwellings with many modern conveniences are obtained at moderate rates It appears that our monied men, though enterprising in many ways, still have much to learn.

Graduated.

The paragraph given below refers to a brother of Mr. Willis I. Fleming of this place. Those who know our Chief Burgess will not be surprised that his brother should do so well. The paragraph is from the Williamsport Gazette and Bulletin, as follows:

Dr. J. Frank Fleming, of this city, brother of Prof. J. W. Fleming, graduated on Tuesday last from the college of physicians and surgeons, Baltimore; he was fifth man in a class of one hundred and twenty-seven, which is strong evidence of the fact that he gave close attention to his studies. Dr. Fleming was a student, last season, under Dr. G. D Nutt, this city, and two years ago with Dr. Yost, of Linden.

—Williams Brothers, practical painters and paper hangers, have an advertisement in the NEWS to-day which explains what they are able to do and what they will do if you give them a chance. Their reputation in Bellefonte is well established. We advise our readers to call at their establishment and test their skill. If your call amounts to nothing else you will at least see the new room which they occupy and which they are making very beautiful with fresh paper and paint.

—Bellefonte will have local option from the 23d of next month until the 28th. Last year court granted licenses on the 23d and they will expire on that day this Spring, and court don't convene until the 28th. From the 23d until the 28th will be a long time for many persons to subsist on nothing stronger than water or coffee to drink, but so, it seems, the fates ordain. Topers, old and young, have our sympathy.

New Postal Cards.

It has been reported that Uncle Sam is going to discard the present style of postal and replace it by one narrower than the one now in use blue in color instead of feverish yellow, of heavier paper, better texture and handsomer design. What the people most want is a double card or in other words, a return postal card. It would be of great utility to business men.

—The blasting of rocks in the vicinity of the toll gate has interfered slightly with the telephone wires in that vicinity. Although the blasts exploded at least 300 feet from the telephone poles, either the concussion caused thereby or the rocks flying through the air disturbed the wires and Inspector Kitzmiller spent all day Friday repairing damages.

—Preparations for the manufacture of the Hamilton Seed Drill Regulator are progressing encouragingly. The recently organized company will give the contracts for constructing the separate parts of the Regulator to different manufactories for the present, Hicks & Griffith, of this place, doing most of the work.

—Mr. William B. Miles and his son, Oscar, of Milesburg, started to the city on Monday with the object of purchasing an elegant stock of goods for their store in that borough.

—The farmers fear that the recent cold snap has injured the grain.—Altoona Tribune. It has at least gone "against the grain" of those who long for warm weather.

—Rev. George Penepacker's sermon on the "Fashionable Crime of Profanity," Sunday evening, was perhaps the most forcible deliverance on the subject that has ever been heard in Bellefonte. To give even a synopsis of it would be so incomplete and unsatisfactory that we shall not attempt it.

MARTHA, March 10, 1884.

MR. EDITOR: An important question in the coming Fall election is—Who shall be our President Judge? By the recent union of Centre and Huntingdon counties as the 49th judicial district the chances are more favorable to the Republican party. Then let the selection be made in our own party. As our presiding judge should be a man who is at once able, quick and impartial, surely there is none whose name is so suggestive of these objects as Love. And the more Love we have in courts of justice the better it will be for all.

It has been asserted that Cupid was in our midst last week and succeeded in capturing two of our fair ones. The uncertainty of such love affairs forbids further reference to the subject.

Mr. John I. Thompson has received some choice tobacco seed from the Agricultural Department at Washington, and next summer intends to put out a large crop of tobacco, and we expect to see one of the finest crops of the weed ever raised in this section of the country or that has ever rewarded the efforts of Mr. Thompson in this line.

A "spelling bee" was held last week in the school house occupied by Mr. Newton Williams' school. Mrs John Q. Miles proved to be one of the best spellers, but we were sorry to hear that Dorce went down on the name of the man who wrote so many love epitaphs.

Mr. Harry Laird, who has sojourned in Martha during the past three years and who, by his gentlemanly manners, has won many friends here, departed last week for the West where he will make his future home. We wish him success and prosperity in all his undertakings. His presence will be missed by all the gentler sex. Who will take care of —— now?

The citizens of Reedsville gazed upon the countenance of Budd Thompson last week. Budd attended the wedding of an intimate friend at that place.

Mr. John Pennington, who has been working at Utahville, Clearfield county, returned home last week to visit his mother. John says "there is no place like home," and has decided to remain here for the present. All right, John; the girls will make it agreeable for you.

Our esteemed friend, Mr. Joseph Williams, has been confined to the house for some time by a severe attack of rheumatism.

After the sale of the goods and chattels of Curt Baumgardner, on the 18th instant, that gentleman will take his departure for the West, where he will reside permanently.

Our young folks had an enjoyable time on Saturday evening, the occasion being a party held at the residence of Mrs. Pennington. Everything that could contribute to the comfort and enjoyment of the guests was supplied in abundance. Games of all kinds, with which the young people of Martha always enliven such occasions, proved to be unusually enjoyable, after which elegant refreshments were partaken of. The kind hostess has the thanks of all for her generous entertainment.

The Superintendent of the Penn'a R. R. has been surveying the site of the old depot and a new building will be reared in the near future.

MARTHA.

—By the by, it is rumored that bangs are surely going out of fashion this Spring, and that the hair will be worn brushed plainly back from the forehead. While bangs are not necessary for women who possess low, pretty foreheads, they are an absolute necessity for women who possess high, ugly foreheads. There can be no denying the fact that when the hair is arranged prettily and becomingly over the forehead, it greatly softens the outlines of the face, and lends an additional charm to it. It is all nonsense for people to say that the most sensible women wear their hair brushed smoothly back from their brows. The most sensible women are those who know what is becoming to them. If they look well with their hair banged or curled they wear it so; if they do not they fail to follow the prevailing fashion, and dress their hair plainly. The Grecian knot has gone entirely out of fashion except for street wear. It is almost impossible to wear the hair on the top of one's head with the fashionable hat of the period. Very few ornaments are worn in the hair. Those worn are mostly silver or amber hairpins.

—Mr. Augustus Lyon, formerly of Lyon & Co., prominent merchants in this place, has been in this vicinity during the past week. He spent Sunday, the 2d, with friends in Philipsburg, arrived in Bellefonte on Tuesday and is still lingering here, expecting however to return to his present home in Philadelphia in a few days.

Whistling Girls.

The number of girls and young ladies in Bellefonte who can whistle quite excellently is large. They don't often whistle in public, but they delight to practice the really pleasant art when alone or with one or two equally lively male companions. They whistle all the latest airs with that proficiency which is quite charming. But, nevertheless, so doubtful are they in regard to the propriety of girls practicing an art which has always belonged exclusively to boys that, under certain circumstances, they would deny the soft imputation and say they cannot whistle at all.

We do not object to hear them whistle. Their lips are just as pretty when fixed in a whistling shape as when in the ordinary position. In fact, the necessary arrangement of the lips when whistling is much the same as when about to kiss and no one should object to that. Besides, it is a healthful practice, developing the chest, etc. There's a lady in Boston who, the other day, entertained a large audience by whistling. It is said that she "performed several difficult operatic airs, changing the expression from the piquant brilliancy of a piccolo to an exquisite flute-like softness, with perfect ease." When a Boston lady can do this without censure, surely our girls can whistle whenever and wherever they please and keep their lips in kissable shape all the time.

—Mr. C. A. Woods, at one time connected with the Harrisburg Telegraph and other journals and now in the railroad office in that city, arrived on Saturday evening to visit during Sunday at his home in Boalsburg, this county, returning to the State Capital on Monday.

—Mr. Austin Curtin has secured the State Encampment of the G. A. R., in this place the coming summer, successfully opposing the efforts of those who want to go to Gettysburg again.

Business Notices and Other Items

—More than one man who thought he was particularly fortunate in passing through the Winter without falling on the ice, stepped on the pavement in front of his house on Friday only to find his feet slipping from under him and his head finding a resting place on the soft side of the stone flags.

—To be successful in all undertakings in life, of whatever name or nature, vigorous bodily health is essential, and a clear head. These are vouchsafed to all if they will practice the hygienic rules so clearly set forth in that popular medical treatise, "The Science of Life: or, Self-Preservation."

Proprietors of the only complete grocery in Centre county, announce to the people of the county that they are now receiving Fresh, New Goods for the Winter Season —OF— 83-84.

Stock Complete! Nothing Wanting!

SPICES.—The best cook in the land cannot cook successfully without pure, fresh spices. These we have in every variety. Well-seasoned food adds to long life and happiness.

SUGARS AND SYRUPS.—In Sugars and Syrups we have all the best brands in the market. Much of the sugar now sold is adulterated, and in an article of this kind there is great waste. We buy from reliable dealers, and handle only the genuine goods.

TEAS AND COFFEES.—No breakfast can be thoroughly enjoyed without a good cup of coffee or tea. A drink of this kind is stimulating and goes right to the spot. Our Coffees and Teas are fresh and strictly pure. The fragrant odor which escapes from the steaming pot as it comes in from the kitchen will convince you of this. We sell more coffee than any other two houses in the county. Why? Because we sell the best and the people know it.

NUTS, CONFECTIONERY, ETC.—In Nuts and Confectionery we have everything that is nice, and just what will please the young folks, and old folks as well. Our candies are all pure and wholesome; We do not handle the highly-colored, poisonous mixtures that ruin and decay the teeth. We have new Florida oranges (this fall's crop), fine Figs and Prunes, and a choice line of Canned Fruits and Preserves. Bear this in mind when preparing to Celebrate the merry holidays.

We make special mention of the above lines of goods because they are all leading articles at this season of the year. In other lines our stock is equally fresh and complete.

We buy the Best Goods and sell at the Lowest Figures.

Call in and inspect our No. 1 goods. Then you will know where to purchase when your cupboard needs replenishing.

LATEST TELEGRAPHIC NEWS

A Juvenile Jesse James Gang.

BOSTON, March 4.—The mania for imitating the fictitious heroes of the dime novel and the more real bandits of Blue Cut which has cropped out among schoolboys here and there of late has been found to be flourishing in Quincy. Some four months ago a party of schoolboys, the sons of respectable and even prominent people, from twelve to fifteen years of age, banded themselves together under the name, "Jesse James Gang." Their rendezvous was an unoccupied stable in the very centre of the town, and here, apparently unobserved by anyone, they have held their nightly meetings and planned their raids. These raids have as yet been of a rather mild character. Two weeks ago the Coddington School House was visited and robbed of stationery and other articles. A few days later the Adams Academy was entered and a quantity of rules, skates, keys, etc., was taken. Still later the Greenleaf street private school and B. F. Bass' boat house were pillaged. Detective Furnald, of Quincy, soon got his eye on the gang and he has recovered a good part of their plunder. Owing to the standing of their parents the names of the younsters will not be made public and it is probable also that the school committee, which is now considering the matter, will act, instead of the police court. The leader of the society is called "Captain Jack" and the boys have badges in the shape of a piece of ribbon with the letters "J. J" sewed upon them. The captain is provided with a revolver and dark lantern. The officer has as yet been unable to obtain their by-laws and articles of war

Foreign Findings.

LONDON, March 5.—The Porte has been sounding the powers regarding the Soudan. Germany replied that she will not intervene, and sugge ts that Turkey arrange the matter directly with England. The other powers made similar replies. In view of this Musurus Pasha, the Turkish ambassador at London, has requested Earl Granville to use the sultan's influence to conciliate the Soudanese.

General Graham has arrived at Suakim. The troops are embarking at Trinkitat for Suakim. The cavalry, before leaving Tokar, discovered Osman Digna stationed ten miles from Suakim.

Nellis, the Irish informer, who surrendered to the Greenock police and professed to give the names of the murderers of the Earl of Leitrim, is believed to be a lunatic.

A telegram from St. Petersburg states that every mark of respect for the memory of the deceased American minister was shown by the authorities. The offer of a military escort to attend the remains to their temporary resting plate in the church was made, but the relatives of Mr. Hunt declined the honor.

A Berlin dispatch says Princess Marie Anna returned to Berlin yesterday and rejoined her husband. The latter met her at the railway station. Later in the day she was received by the emperor and empress.

Newspapers to be Copyrighted.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—In the senate to-day Mr. Sherman introduced a bill granting a copyright to newspapers. It provides that any daily or weekly newspaper, or any association of any daily or weekly newspapers, published in the United States or any of the territories thereof, shall have the sole right to print, issue and sell for the term of eight hours dating from the hour of going to press the contents of said daily or weekly newspapers, or the collected news of said daily or weekly newspapers, or the collected news of said newspaper association exceeding one hundred words. Section 2 provides that for any infringement of the copyright granted by the first section of this act the party injured may sue in any court of competent jurisdiction and recover in any proper action the damages sustained by him from the person making the infringement, together with the costs of suit. A duplicate of the foregoing measure will be introduced in the house at the earliest opportunity by Representative Tucker, of Virginia.

Duke's Jury Sue a Newspaper.

UNIONTOWN, March 5.—Suits for criminal libel have been entered against the editors of the Republican Standard by R H. Acklin and Lawrence Knatts, members of the jury which acquitted Dukes. The alleged libel appeared in the issues of March last, and consisted in great part of the head lines of the articles written on the subject of Duke's acquittal. Damage suits will also be brought by the same parties.

Railroad Collision.

MACON, March 4.—Two passenger trains on the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia railway collided last night, near Julietta, twenty-two miles from Macon. Engineer Howden and Fireman Pruditt were killed. Express Messenger Clower was badly hurt. One passenger had an arm broken. The engines and several freight cars were wrecked.

A Snow Plow's Fatal Work.

SIOUX CITY, March 5.—A snow plow on the St. Paul railroad struck a sleigh containing a farmer named Sisk, his son, aged 10 years, a married daughter and two small children, at Sibley to-day. The son was instantly killed and the father was fatally injured. The others received slight injuries.

Terrible Boiler Explosion.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., March 3.—A terrible explosion occurred at the saw mill of Colonel Albright Lewis, at Bear creek, twelve miles from this city, this morning. Whitney Whitebread, the engineer, accompanied by Reuben Sipler and Jesse Knecht, also employes of the mill, entered the boiler house at about 6 o'clock to turn on the steam, when a terrific explosion followed. The three men were hurled with great force through the air, and landed at a distance of about two hundred yards from the scene of the disaster. Whitebread was mangled beyond recognition. He leaves a wife and family at White Haven. Dipler had his right arm blown from its stocket, his legs broken and his left side caved in where he had been struck by a piece of the flying boiler. He was a single man. Knecht was likewise terribly mangled. He was also a single man. Four other employes who were approaching the mill at the time of the explosion were all seriously injured, and it is thought two of them, William Hendricks and Joseph Sterner, fatally. The cause of the explosion is attributed to the nature of the water, it having a very severe effect on the boiler iron inside by scaling it and reducing its thickness. The water has much alkali in it. Great excitement prevailed upon the disaster becoming know, and the scene about the wrecked mill was a reminder of a great mine disaster with the weeping and whining of the relatives and friends of the unfortunate men.

Uniting against England.

BERLIN, March 3.—The German Ministerial organs associate the alliance of Russia, Germany and Austria with a coming league of the Continental powers against the maritime and commercial preponderance of England. A notable article appears in the Kreuz Zeitung, which predicts the formation of a league, including France, to break the insular supremacy of England, which, it says, by the annexation of Egypt, has completed the links of a gigantic chain extending from Gibraltar to China and coiled around the body of Europe monopolizing the commerce of the world and making the Mediterranean and Indian Ocean English lakes.

The Berlin Post urges France to join an alliance promising more substantial benefits than those arising from her entente with England.

Dr. Busch, Under Foreign Secretary, in an article in the Grenzboten, remarks that Russia's progress toward India is a matter of indifference to Germany. "England," he says, "is no longer our ally, but regards us with evident mistrust." It is supposed that these articles are indications of a diplomatic campaign against England.

Decrepit Mr. Tilden.

NEW YORK, March 3.—Carroll E. Smith, of Utica, a prominent Republican editor and member of the State Committee, said here to-night that Democrats in his section were for Tilden as the presidential nominee.

"They cannot know his physical condition," Mr. Smith added, "or they would never think of such a thing. Why, Tilden is dead below the eyes. His mind is clear enough, but he has neither voice nor hearing. To converse with him is an agonizing infliction. His attendant stands by the old man's side and repeats in his ear what you want said to him. When the old man whispers his reply to the attendant, the latter tells you what it is. Mr. Tilden's voice is so low and husky that no one not accustomed to it can understand what he says. His lower jaw drops down as he attempts to talk, and he has no power over it to bring it back into place."

Down East Election.

PORTLAND, Me., March 3.—Municipal elections were held through Maine to-day. Following are some of the results:

Lewistown.—Howard, republican, elected mayor over Garcelon, democrat. The aldermen are evenly divided. The council is democratic.

Auburn—Sturgis, republican mayor and republican council elected.

Rockland—Case, republican, elected mayor. The republicans carried six or of the seven wards.

Portland—King (republican) was elected mayor over Deering (democrat).

Ellsworth—Stedman (democrat) was elected mayor. The council is democratic.

Bath—There was no choice for mayor.

Gardiner—Johnson, republican, was elected mayor unanimously. The aldermen and councils are republican.

The Missing Will.

CLEVELAND, March 3.—S. S. Stone, a brother of the late Amasa Stone, died some weeks ago, leaving an estate valued at $1,000,000. Although Mr. Stone made a will, his heirs, as yet, have been unable to find it. Major S. M. Stone, who for several years was Mr. Stone's confidential agent, said to day: "We have searched nearly everywhere where the will would probably be found. There is still one more place to look, but it will be some days before we know the result of this final search. From what Mr. Stone said to me before he died, I am sure that if a will should be found it would appear that he had tied up his property so as to keep it intact. He believed that it would one day become an immense estate, worth many millions, and it was his ambition to keep it intact. He owned at the time of his death a large tract of land in the central portion of Cleveland."

Terse Telegrams.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—The name of John W. Mason, of West Virginia, is mentioned as the probable successor of Mr. New, as assistant secretary of the treasury.

CHEYENNE, March 3.—This morning Eugene C. Gunnison, alias E. B. Clifford, for some time past business manager of the Northwestern Live Stock Journal, committed suicide by shooting.

NORFOLK, Va., March 3.—An explosion at the Virginia cotton compress works this afternoon completely wrecked the washing and engine rooms, and it is feared buried one or two persons under the debris.

LONDON, March 4.—Hong Kong advices of this date report that a collision had occurred between Chinese soldiers and Europeans at Shanghai. A small body of the former assaulted several of the latter, and wounded two with bayonets.

NEW YORK, March 4.—Charter elections were held in a number of cities in this State to-day. At Elmira, Rochester and Cohoes, Republican mayors were elected. At Auburn a democratic recorder and a republican assessor were elected.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, March 3.—The drivers in all the mines on the Ohio Central road in the Sunday Creek valley have struck against a reduction from $2 00 to $1 75 per day. Over one thousand miners are in consequence out and will support the drivers.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., March 3.—The white manufacturers to-day locked out 3,500 Chinese cigar makers. It is proposed to substitute 8,500 whites from New York. The Chinese packers struck on learning that their countrymen had been locked out.

NEW YORK, March 5.—Theodore Hoffman the murderer of Zife Marks, the Hebrew peddler, near here in 1883, was sentenced to-day to be hanged April 18 next. Hoffman had been previously convicted but appealed to the court of appeals which affirmed the decision of the court below.

BOSTON, March 3.—After seven years of idleness the larger furnace of the South Boston iron works was lighted up on Saturday for the casting of a twelve inch rifle mortar for the United States ordnance department. This is to be the first of a lot of heavy experimental guns authorized by the last congress.

PEKIN, March 3.—There is a great financial panic here, in which many native merchants and banks have failed. The banks rates for silver are rapidly declining, and merchants in the interior have stopped all trading ventures. The populace throughout the country is greatly excited.

OTTAWA, March 3.—Archer Baker, general manager of the Canada Pacific railway, who was on the snow-bound train at Bell's Corners from Thursday night until Saturday afternoon, states that 600 men are engaged in clearing away the snow from the imprisoned train. It is impossible for the passengers to leave the train, being upwards of five feet of snow surrounding it.

HELENA, Montana, March 3.—The first and only woman to arrive at the Colier da Lene Mines is from Missoula. She is dressed in man's suit of canvas overalls, vest and blouse, with canvas overcoat. She was stormbound on the trip for two days, but when seen was rosy-cheeked, and apparently standing the trip as well as any of the men.

Nervousness.

The moment there is danger of impairment of the mind from excessive nervous exhaustion, or where there exists forebodings of evil, a desire for solitude, shunning and avoiding company, vertigo and nervous debility, or when insanity has already taken place, Peruna and Manalin should be implicitly relied on. But it is never well to wait so long before treatment is commenced. The early symptoms are loss of strength, softness of the muscles, dim or weak sight, peculiar expression of the face and eyes, coated tongue, with impaired digestion; or in others, certain powers only are lost, while they are otherwise enjoying comparatively good health. In all these Peruna and Manalin should at once be taken.

Hop Bitters.

Thousands Hastened to Their Graves.

Relying on testimonials written in vivid, glowing language of some miraculous cures made by some largely puffed up doctor or patent medicine has hastened thousands to their graves; believing in their almost insane faith that the same miracle will be performed on them, and that these testimonials make the cures, while the so called medicine is all the time hastening them to their graves. We have avoided publishing testimonials, as they do not make the cures, although we have

THOUSANDS UPON THOUSANDS

of them, of the most wonderful cures, voluntarily sent us. It is our medicine, Hop Bitters, that makes the cures. It has never failed and never can. We will give references to any one for any disease similar to their own if desired, or will refer to any neighbor, as there is not a neighborhood in the known world but can show its cures by Hop Bitters.

A LOSING JOKE.

A prominent physician of Pittsburgh said to a lady patient who was complaining of her continued ill health, and of his inability to cure her, jokingly said: "Try Hop Bitters." The lady took it in earnest and used the Bitters, from which she obtained permanent health. She now laughs at the doctor for his joke, but he is not so well pleased with it, as it cost him a good patient.

FEES OF DOCTORS.

The fee of doctors is an item that very many persons are interested in. We believe the schedule for visits is $3.00, which would tax a man confined to his bed for a year, and in need of a daily visit, over $1,000 a year for medical attendance alone! And one single bottle of Hop Bitters taken in time would save the $1,000 and all the year's sickness.

A LADY'S WISH.

"Oh, how I do wish my skin was as clear and soft as yours," said a lady to her friend. "You can easily make it so," answered the friend. "How?" inquired the first lady. "By using Hop Bitters that makes pure, rich blood and blooming health. It did it for me, as you observe."

GIVEN UP BY THE DOCTORS.

"Is it possible that Mr. Godfrey is up and at work, and cured by so simple a remedy?"

"I assure you it is true that he is entirely cured, and with nothing but Hop Bitters, and only ten days ago his doctors gave him up and said he must die from kidney and liver trouble.

—Mr. Samuel Brooks, collector and solicitor for the News and Republican, has recovered from his recent illness.

—Mr. A. Kohlbecker, of Milesburg, has in his possession $50 to be appropriated to the use of the band of that place.

—The boot and shoe firm of Doll & Mingle give notice of a dissolution of partnership, beginning the first of March.

—Isaac Dawson is erecting a house on Half Moon Hill which is quite a conspicuous object from the western part of Bellefonte.

—The Collins Brothers have commenced operations on their contract on the new South Pennsylvania railroad near Somerset, Pa.

—Several prisoners were added to the number in the county jail on Monday, the 3d. We have not learned what their offenses were.

—Among the rumored business changes is the purchase by Mr. Valentine Smith of part or all of the business of the grocery firm of Harry Teats & Co.

—The Carnegie Brothers ore mines at Scotia, which have not been in very active operation for three months past, again began work at full capacity last week.

—Webster Gillett, of Ypsilanti, Mich., has invented a telephone with which he expects to cross the Atlantic Ocean, by the Bennett Mackey cable which is soon to be laid.

—We have received from J. Simpson Africa, Secretary of Internal Affairs, the annual report of his department for the year 1883. He will please accept our thanks.

—Judge Hoy has adopted a rule to dock Huntingdon county jurors empanelled on a case one day's pay for every five minutes he is late coming into court. This should stop tardiness among jurors.

—Newburg, N. Y., is anxious to have the electric light and the electricians now engaged in Bellefonte will go to that city after leaving here which will be in a few days.

—"Lew Schoefer" is the way the Democrat prints it. The name was doubtless spelled in that way for political effect with the Penns Valley people, which is one point in his favor.

—A letter in the post office addressed "Mr. Amos A. Jacoby, Centre Dale, Centre County, Pa.," is probably intended for somebody, but the fact that there is no such a post office as "Centre Dale" in this county, renders the destination of the letter uncertain.

—Elmer Essig, an eight-year-old boy attending Plum Grove School near Unionville, who was severely injured a few weeks ago by being run over by a heavily loaded sled, and whose life was despaired of, is fast recovering although one of his arms was amputated. Drs. Blair, Russell and Cambridge performed the operation.

—The trial of the carbon burner at the glass works last week was satisfactory. It is probably not a cheaper mode of combustion than coal would be, but is superior in other respects. We heard it stated on Monday that glass can be manufactured at less cost in Bellefonte than in any other town in the United States. Strange this fact was never demonstrated before, and why is it that Bellefonte cannot become the most extensive glass manufacturing town in this country?

What They are Doing.

The merchant is taking an inventory of stock, and he is "head over ears" in business. The rush of customers is not very great, because people don't want to buy any more Winter clothes and they think that the purchase of Spring clothing at this time is premature. But, nevertheless, the merchant wants to know how much he has made, before he rushes into the hurry and excitement of purchasing and selling Spring and Summer goods. Then, if he finds that his present relations with the world are prosperous and a brisk Spring trade follows, he will spend money liberally during the Summer, and, "ten chances to one," the hot days of July and August will find him at the sea shore or pursuing some invigorating sport in the mountains. But, remember, the merchant is now taking account of stock.

What are the young folks doing? A large number of them spend the day in school. At the high schools and colleges this is a season of the hardest work and closest application of the year. The excitement of the mid-winter holidays is over and the ennui of Spring has not yet attacked them. Then, they are now doing the solid work that will tell through all their future lives. They are searching the mysteries of Latin, Greek, French and German; of mathematics, science and literature with greater energy than they ever did before. We believe that among the students of our schools more future men and women to the square inch are developed during February, March and April than during all the remaining months of the year. Those who are laggards now will lag all their lives; those who are studious now will be found at the top in the future history of the world.

What are the railroad men doing? We are informed that the Buffalo Run Railroad Co. are laying the foundation for their new depot buildings at the foot of Lamb street. What sort of buildings they will be we have not yet inquired, but will allude to this again quite soon and give more information on the subject.

What are the hotel men doing? Most of them are enjoying a fair share of patronage. They look forward to the next term of court for more lively times and expect to be crowded all through the summer with parties from a distance who come for recreation to this pleasant mountain town.

The farmers are fearing, to some extent, the cold weather which occurs while the ground, at least in Centre county, is almost without any covering of snow. They are not very busy, but the careful farmer believes that this is the proper time to see that all the farming implements are in excellent repair. He will be ready to devote himself to outdoor work as soon as "ethereal mildness" comes.

From all parts of the country we hear the joyful news that strikes are ended and men are resuming work. For lack of other cause we shall attribute this to the recent Republican local victories North and South.

We noticed last week that the bill boards on Mr. Brackbill's property, west of the Centre County Bank, have been torn down. Next thing we hear, Mr. B. will erect a handsome building on the spot.

Alas and alack! Many poor unfortunates, though not particularly busy just now, are nevertheless, looking forward to the first day of April with horror. Kind reader, did you ever move—flit? Ah, even to mention it moves us to tears. You imagine that you possess but little furniture, but when the attempt is made to move it the quantity increases to almost unlimited proportions, and it seems impossible ever to get it arranged again. The cold weather is also an objection—also the mud. Imagine this to be April 1!

—Since Monday morning, the 3d, newspapers have covered the lower halves of the windows which afford light to the composing room of the Watchman office. These newspapers do not add to the beauty or neatness of that usually well-conducted establishment. They were not put there to obstruct the gentle rays of Old Sol nor to conceal from the curious gaze of outsiders what is transpiring within. Neither will they accomplish their purpose unless they are renewed at least twice a week, for we already perceive sundry holes punctured in them large enough to look through. Now, to really accomplish the purpose intended the proprietor should manufacture some handsome "crazy" satin window shades, which will be really ornamental and too elegant to spoil by punching holes through them. Then the fair compositors will concentrate their attention on their work.

—Electric light has been put in several private houses, among them that of J. L. Sommerville and L. T. Munson.

A Lively Meeting of Borough Council.

It was half past seven o'clock on Monday evening, the 3rd, instant, before there was a quorum of the borough council present. Mr. Ardell, the President, being absent, Mr. Crider was called to preside. Messrs. Brown, Walkey, Tate, Cedars and Bartley were present.

Mr. James Harris stated that by the recent survey of North Water street made by Surveyor Butts, that the thoroughfare encroaches on his property seven feet. He states that he is preparing to erect a building there and asked the Council to take what action they see proper in the premises. The survey made by Mr. Butts was exhibited to council and carefully examined. Mr. Harris claims that, according to the plan of the borough, from Spring street to the water's edge is 240 feet, lots occupy 207 feet of this, leaving 33 feet for the street. After the subject had been thoroughly discussed a motion was carried to refer the subject to the street committee with instructions to consult the borough solicitor and report to a special meeting.

The Fire and Police committee reported that the new hose has been received and the fire companies are well pleased with it.

The Street committee reported that the trustees of the Thomas estate had been consulted in reference to laying the boardwalk from L. L. Brown's coal office to the poor house and a difficulty in regard to the width of the walk exists. The street is too narrow in some places to permit a walk of standard width.

A motion made by Mr. Tate, seconded by Mr. Cedars, in reference to the water supplied to the Steam Heating and Electric Lighting companies, was on motion of Mr. Brown, seconded by Mr. Crider, laid on the table. The motion provided for shutting off the water from those places when the supply is limited and provoked considerable discussion.

A motion was carried that the chairman of the Water committee, Mr. Tate, and one other member of council be appointed a committee to investigate the amount of water used by the manufacturing establishments and estimate what they should pay therefor.

An ordinance was read which provided for the establishment of a fire line in Bellefonte and fixing a penalty for the erection of frame buildings within certain prescribed limits, including the principal streets. On motion, the consideration of the ordinance was postponed indefinitely.

Among the bills ordered to be paid was one from J. G. Love, Esq., for legal services—$80; and one from Jesse Stewart for laying stone in repairing the Allegheny street sewer—$52.50.

The Water committee's report made through Mr. Bartley, showed that the pump at the water works had been in operation 244 hours during the 29 days of February, or an average of 8 hours and 25 minutes per day. The amount of coal consumed was 47.01 tons.

—The cane presentation which occurred in Milesburg on Tuesday evening, Feb. 26, is thus described by the correspondent of Grit: "Bald Eagle Lodge No. 410, I. O. O. F., gave a general invitation to the public to witness the gold-headed cane presentation, cane costing $40. Contested for by John Uzzle, of Snow Shoe, and Llewellyn Fulton, of Milesburg. The lodge room was filled with spectators. Mr. Uzzle having one book out yet, had not heard from it, but without it the committee reported $260 for Mr. Uzzle and $119.25 for Mr. Fulton. Total as reported, $379.25 for a cane that cost but $40. The presentation was made by Col. James F. Weaver in behalf of Bald Eagle Lodge, No. 410, I. O. O. F. Rev. T. M. Morris responded in behalf of Mr. Uzzle. Both speeches were excellent and listened to with great attentiveness. L. T. Eddy and Charles Else made a few remarks. The music of the band seemed to have had a different vibration on the tympanum. It would be useless for us to attempt to give details of the meeting. Everything passed off nicely and orderly. W. H. Musser presented the six lamp chandelier, costing $31, to the Lodge at the close of the evening exercises. A collection was taken up, in behalf of the music, and the band realized $9 by it, and everyone present went home perfectly satisfied with the entertainment given."

—The wall paper and paint store of the Williams Brothers has been moved into the store room formerly occupied by Mr. Keichline as a cigar store, two doors east of the old stand on High street. The building in which their store was located will be torn down to make room for Mr. Harris' contemplated brick building.

—John Langdon has removed with his family from Hopewell, Huntingdon Co., to Philipsburg, this county.

—There is but one course for the Water committee of council to pursue at present. The fact seems to be that the reservoir is pumped full during the day, and when the pump stops at four or five o'clock p. m., it contains as much water as is desirable, but in the morning that water is all exhausted. It is evident that this water is not consumed by ordinary use, and that immense leaks exist which cannot be found while the ground is frozen so hard as at present. During the month of February the pump at the Water works was in operation an average of about eight hours and a half each day. There are portions of the day during which the residents of the more elevated parts of the town are entirely deprived of water. To provide against this as far as possible the pump at the water works should be kept in continual operation, even if the expense is doubled. It would not be proper to deprive any private parties or business industries of the necessary supplies of water, and to keep the reservoir full at all hours of the day and night seems to be necessary, until the contemplated improvements are completed.

—Secretary Crew, of the Pennsylvania Society to Protect Children from Cruelty, the head office of which is in Philadelphia, received a letter from Charles T. Peck, commissioner of labor statistics in New York, stating that he has decided to investigate the subject of child labor in that state, and asking for information about the work. Mr. Crew, in reply, refers to the crusade which the society has been making against mill and factory owners throughout the state, and shows what has been done toward rescuing the children. About five hundred circular letters containing the act were sent out, to which replies were received informing the society that all operatives specified in the act had been discharged. An agent was afterward sent out, and he found that nearly all the employers had complied with the notice. The number of children discharged through the interference of the society was about 2,000. Mr. Crew states that he intends to extend his field of operations, and to send his agents all over the state to compel factory owners to comply with the law.

—This is the time of year for farmers to keep their weather eye open for every kind of bogus seed. Almost every day the country papers get circulars advertising the merits of a new brand of oats that will grow a hundred bushels per acre and never stubble fail. Then it will be wheat—a small quantity sown in your garden will grow enough grain to keep a family in flour a year. Some other fellow has a new kind of corn, which he calls the branching kind. The stalks do not grow as large as peach trees, but you can raise from eighty to one hundred and ten bushels per acre very easily. Then the potato man will send out his circulars, and so it goes. Now, it is well enough for every farmer to experiment with new seeds of all kinds, but they should be bought of reliable houses which deal in such things, and in small quantities, so that if they should fail the loss is but a trifle. The amount of money that farmers are swindled out of every year by these seed sharpers is enormous.

—The Renovo Record, of February 28, presented its readers with the picture of a man, who, it said, was Hon. Joseph C. S. Blackburn, of Kentucky. The Bellefonte Watchman, of Feb. 29, gave its readers a "fac-simile" of the same, and says it was Senator Ben. Harrison, of Indiana. We don't know which of them is right, but would like to know if either of them is, or, whether both of them are right. But if both of them are right, Messrs. Harrison and Blackburn, look so nearly alike, that should they stand side by side, their most intimate friends couldn't tell "which from 'tother."—Renovo Evening News.

—We received information on Monday evening, the 3rd instant, of the death of Mrs. Jennie Saltsman, nee Burnew, which occurred on the 28th of February in Alexandria, Dakota Territory. She was formerly a resident of Lock Haven and is well known in Bellefonte, having visited at the residence of D. H. Hastings, Esq., several years ago, with her friend, Miss Emma Salteman, of Lock Haven. The deceased lady's friends in Bellefonte will be pained to hear of the sad event.

—"Where will we stop in St. Louis, Charley?" asked a Lock Haven bride of her bran new hubby as they were speeding westward on their bridal tour via the Wabash railroad. "The Hotel Belvidere," said hubby. "Hush, Charley, don't call me 'dear' in public or every one will know we are newly married."

—It is again reported, says the Clearfield Raftsman's Journal, that the Bedford Springs hotel property has not been sold. The result of the proposed transaction has been announced from headquarters, and it is that the negotiations are all off and that the old firm will still carry on business at the old stand in the same way. Mr. Roscius Barnes is apparently a heavy loser by this failure to connect. It is more than a year since he put up a forfeit of $10,000 for the option to purchase the property for $250,000, or perhaps a larger sum, in October last. Failing in raising sufficient subscriptions of shares, the time expired and a new option was secured at the same price until February. Now it appears that the second effort was as great a failure as the first.

—There are several old dwelling houses at the junction of North Water and Lamb streets which will be torn down or removed to make way for railroad and depot purposes. It is also said in reference to the correct line of North Water street that there are a few houses on the east side of it which extend several fee on the street, and if the street should be widened to its proper dimensions some of these houses would have to be moved back at least half their length.

—The two trials which have been appointed for the special court on the first Monday of April are as follows: Bird Coal and Iron Co. vs. B. & S. S. R. R. Co. and John I. Thompson vs. Samuel Christ et al.

—The trains arrive and depart so regularly on the Bald Eagle R. R. this winter that we think the admirable condition of affairs deserves praise. Now for that depot building.

—Which is ahead—Rev. Fischer or Rev. DeLong? The latter gentleman's latest and, as he declares, last communication on the subject is sharp and to the point.

When you come to think of it, it is not odd that literary people prefer a pipe to a cigar. It is handier to smoke when they are writing, and ever so much cleaner. And then it gives them the true essence and flavor of the tobacco.

The most fastidious smokers among all nations and all classes of men agree that the tobacco grown on the Golden Tobacco Belt of North Carolina is the most delicious and refined in the world. Lighter than Turkish, more fragrant than Havana, freer from nitrates and nicotine than any other, it is just what the connoisseur praises and the habitual smoker demands. The very choicest tobacco grown on this Belt is bought by Blackwell's Durham Tobacco Co., and appears in their celebrated Bull Durham Smoking Tobacco. It is known the world over. Get the genuine, with Bull trade-mark, then you will be sure of having absolutely pure tobacco.

Terms, $2.00 per annum in Advance

Local Department.

—Idle—altogether too many young men about town.

—The Walking Club is increasing in membership rapidly.

—Millheim has a musical society numbering 27 members.

—There is a fair maiden in Bellefonte who rides a bicycle.

—An interesting religious meeting is in progress in Yocum's school house.

—The Central Pennsylvania Conference of the Evangelical Association is now in session in Milton, Pa.

—The big hotel at Spring Mills is full of guests just now, many of them being connected with the railroad.

—With butter 25 cents per pound and eggs 20 cents per dozen the average citizen can begin to live again.

—The new and elegant passenger coaches on the Bald Eagle Valley road draw forth numerous admiring comments.

—Mr. John Bartruff and Mr. Green are each erecting frame buildings near the residence of Mr. Samuel Foster on Water street.

—The butcher slays the pensive hog, cuts off his ears and feet, and grinds them in a sausage big, thus making both ends meet.

—What do you think of the wealth of Bellefonte when one man invades the town and in a few days takes $92,000 worth of life insurance?

—Maurice Heberling, a railroad track walker, was seriously injured on Friday at Kittaning Point by being struck and knocked down by an engine.

—Mr. Amos Garbrick talks of retiring from the milk business. If it keeps on this way the town will be full of retired business men next summer.

—The Bell Telephone and Supply Co. have the promise of 15 instruments between Centre Hall and Aaronsburg via. Coburn as soon as the line is completed.

—Here's a conundrum for our temperance friends: If the devil were to lose his tail, where should he go to get another? To a grog shop, because there bad spirits are retailed.

—Some of our subscribers are doubtless changing their post office address at this season. All such should notify us and their paper will be sent to the proper address.

—About six hundred employes along the line of the Beech Creek, Clearfield and Southwestern railroad had to suspend work last week on account of the extreme cold weather.

—A foundry, flouring mill, grain house and bakery are among the enterprises in store for Centre Hall as soon as the iron horse comes puffing along from Spring Mills or Bellefonte.

—Mr. and Mrs. John Bartruff are entertaining a very lively and attractive young lady friend in the person of Miss Rose Laporte, of Curwensville. Her visit will be very short as she expects to return home in a few days.

—Hon. John Patton, of Curwensville, has given $10,000 toward the erection of a new school building in that place. If Bellefonte had an equally generous Hon. John the present school board would feel immensely relieved.

—Mr. Blackburn, a Philadelphia gentleman who was visiting friends in Bellefonte last week, received a telegram on Saturday announcing the serious illness of his mother which necessitated his immediate return home by the first train that day.

—The Centre Hall Reporter makes the very pleasing announcement that there are no intemperate people in that town and a temperance organization is entirely unnecessary. This is truly good news, Brother Kurtz; may you always be able to say it, even when your railroad is completed.

—At Mrs. Valentine's sale on Thursday afternoon the stock brought especially good prices. An 11-months-old Percheron mare brought $110 and a 3-year-old Clydesdale $200. A 15-year-old mare sold for $100; one only 7 years old brought $179.55 and another 5 years of age was sold for $200.

—The number of protracted meetings in all parts of Centre county, this winter, seem to have been larger than usual. One is now in progress in the Evangelical church in Madisonburg. The salutary effect of these meetings on the morals of the people should soon be apparent, and work a universal change for good.

Prepare for the Encampment.

Now, that the State Encampment of the G. A. R. is really to be held in Bellefonte this year it is well to consider what that means and begin to prepare for the greatest event our town has ever known. At similar encampments held in Gettysburg 30,000 people have at one time "tented on the old camp ground," and if two-thirds of that number come to Bellefonte it will make the town and all the surrounding country exceedingly lively and benefit our merchants, hotel-keepers, restauranters, cigar and tobacco dealers, farmers—yes, even the saloon-men—to the extent of not less than $50,000. Preparations for the reception of the veterans must be commenced at once, for there is much to be done—more than is apparent at first thought.

How will the merchants be benefitted? The simple fare of "hardtack," molasses, beans, pork, etc., must necessarily be provided in immense quantities through Bellefonte grocers and meat market men. Besides, everybody in Centre county will come to Bellefonte to witness the encampment and all will purchase something. How will the hotelists be benefitted? By the great demand for all that they can provide during an entire week. Their accommodations will not begin to suffice for the visitors who will accompany the veterans, and many will be compelled to occupy tents, but our hotel men can depend upon it that for a whole week all departments of their establishments will be tested to the utmost.

For supplies of straw, hay, feed for stock, etc., the farming community must be called upon, and their pockets will be filled.

For the same reason the restauranters will be greatly benefitted. Old veterans will smoke, you know, and there's where the cigar dealer's profits will come in; and as for the liquor dealers, they know well enough how it is themselves without requiring us to give the "vets" away.

Gettysburg has learned by experience the profits of such an occasion and made a strong effort to again secure the encampment, and that Gettysburg failed and Bellefonte gained is doubtless owing to the wise and well-directed efforts of Commander Austin Curtin.

The fair ground has already been secured for the encampment. That it may be suitably fitted up for the purpose and supplies of various kinds procured a considerable sum of money will be required. A large part of this the business men who will be directly benefitted must contribute. Of course, there will be generous gifts from citizens who although not pecuniarily concerned, will delight to see Bellefonte extending a ready and generous hospitality—maintaining the credit which she has already gained.

Ahead of the Railroad Company.

Messrs. Grannis & Candor who have the contract for constructing the railroad from Keating to Karthaus are reported to have "struck it rich,' if we may be allowed the term.

It appears that when the time for the completion of their contract expired the construction was not finished as per agreement. The Pennsylvania company then granted them sixty days more time in which to complete the work, but, at the expiration of that time (the contract not yet being completed) failed to notify them to quit work. This in law renewed the contract and Messrs, Grannis & Candor have ever since taken their time with the work and have been daily hauling coal and passengers over the road receiving five dollars for every car of coal which passes over it. We understand they are under law permitted to hold on to it until May.—L. H. Democrat.

Telephone Talk.

Very successful tests were made on Friday in the use of the Baxter telephone, between Harrisburg and York. The line used was a wire of the Bankers' and Merchants' Telegraph Company, and was one of their fifteen, fourteen of which were in constant use in the transmission of through and local business. The state of the weather and the arrangement of the wire were not the most favorable for a test, yet the results were surprising to all who heard them. All sorts of experiments were made and all kinds of conversations, even down to whispers, were heard over the many miles of wire. At one time the speaker stood at least sixteen feet from the transmitter, and speaking to the people in York was answered immediately. A jewsharp and a mouth organ operated in York were distinctly heard.

—An unknown man was found dead on the railroad track on Friday morning a short distance west of Johnstown. On his person was found a letter dated at Jacob's Mills and signed Daniel Bowersox.

Topics of the Day.

The expenses for keeping the poor people of the borough of Bellefonte for the month of February amounts to $176.85. This includes fuel, clothing and provision.

J. M. Keichline, O. P.

The spelling bee given last week by the Grammar school at Boiling Springs, under the supervision of John F. Harrison, Jr., teacher, was a grand success.

The most recent diversion of society in Bellefonte is the organization of a walking club, of which Miss Katie Jackson is President. The first meeting took place on Wednesday evening. The meetings are held daily between five and six o'clock p. m., at some place which has been previously appointed and pedestrianism is continued about one hour. We are informed that any one can become a member of the club by sending an application to the President and receiving a majority vote in favor of admission.

The State encampment of the G. A. R. will be held in Bellefonte during the coming summer. A strong effort is being made in certain quarters to have that gathering at Gettysburg once again, but by far the larger number of the Posts have expressed a desire to ceme to Bellefonte, and one Post has already sent notice that if the encampment is held in Bellefonte they will send a delegation of fifty. The encampment attracts thousands of old veterans yearly and during its continuance Bellefonte may expect to see the liveliest time in its history. Mr. Austin Curtin is now in Philadelphia on business relative to the encampment.

Mr. John Garbrick is the champion checker player in Bellefonte. His usual place of practice is Garman's hotel.

We find this in an exchange: "Hon. Wm. A. Wallace states that his railroad into the Clearfield coal region will be completed by spring, and that he will be ready to ship coal by that time. There will be a number of collieries in operation along his line then, and he has arranged with prominent houses in Philadelphia and Buffalo to place the coal. It is understood that all the coal lands on the line of the road, amounting to over thirty thousand acres, will be under development within two years."

Chester Munson, Esq., of Philipsburg, has received the appointment as associate judge of this county to fill the place recently vacated by the death of Hon. J. G. Larimer. The appointment is a surprise as R. McKnight was supposed to be the fortunate candidate. The appointment was made Wednesday afternoon by Gov. Pattison.

—The rocks which mount up from North Water street near the junction of Lamb street to the altitude of twenty feet or more are to be removed to make space for railroad accommodation in that section. It seems to be a very difficult undertaking, but we are assured that with the modern appliances for doing such work it will be easily and expeditiously accomplished. A few days ago as we passed that way we saw three or four men at work with their drills and other implements and with the aid of dynamite and Giant Powder the undertaking will be finished. When these explosives are employed in this way, with sufficient caution, they are useful, and we advise the inhabitants of London who are so fond of blowing up valuable buildings and destroying life with these engines of war to come to Bellefonte and use their ingenuity and dynamite in removing some of the rocks that impede the progress of railroad construction.

—The Williamsport Sun and Banner says that Mr. John DuBois contemplates the erection of a third mill at DuBois in the immediate future. Work has already been commenced on getting out the machinery, and as soon as possible the foundation of the mill will be commenced and the structure pushed to completion. The size of the mill will be 40x128, with boiler and engine house attached. It will be fitted with a circular saw and gang edger. The capacity will be about 40,000 per day. Stave machinery will be put in and there will also be a kinding wood department with all the appliances. The mill will give employment to about forty men.

—The roofs of two freight cars which were brought to town on Friday were covered about a foot deep with snow. They didn't drop from the clouds, so we are compelled to believe that there is more snow some place not far away than there is in Bellefonte. The depot folks kindly inform us that the cars came from Pittsburg.

—There is considerable illness in Millheim.

A Horrible Death.

We clip the following account of a sad accident which occurred at Port Royal, Juniata county, from the Altoona Tribune of this morning:

On Thursday afternoon at 1:15 o'clock, as Joseph Jefferies, a gentleman between 60 and 70 years of age, was walking on the railroad track about one mile east of Port Royal, with a bag of coal and a piece of tie on his shoulder, the New York and Chicago limited express, due at that place at 1:10 p. m., struck him, killing him instantly. He was on the track the train was running on, facing the train. As soon as the engineer saw him he whistled, but Jefferies failed to get off the track. The engine struck him and broke both legs above the ankle and knee, broke one arm, mangled his hands, cut his face and breast and cut a hole in his head, from which his brains ran out on the ground. The engine was stopped, and the engineer told the watchman at the slip rock that when he whistled the man looked back at him, and when he whistled down brakes it was too late to stop in time to prevent the accident. Jefferies, accordcording to the engineer, saw the train coming, but dropped his head and made no effort to get off the track, though he was warned at least a dozen times by the whistle of the engine. After the accident the hands on sub-division No. 19 gathered up his body and carried it to Port Royal, where he was buried to-day. The shock of the accident prostrated Mrs. Jefferies and she is now quite sick.

Sudden Disappearance.

For several days past the community in and around Coburn, this county, have been greatly agitated at the sudden disappearance of a prominent business man of that place under circumstances which seem to imply that it was with the intention of defrauding his creditors, if not even worse.

Mr. Perry Stover has been for some time an extensive dealer in grain in that place and was trusted by numerous firms and private individuals who considered him entirely solvent and a square and honest business man. But a few days ago he disappeared and nothing has been heard of him since. His friends do not know where he is although every effort is being made to capture him, and four citizens of that place are in town to-day on business relating to his apprehension.

We have inquired as to the extent of his insolvency and are told that it amounts to about $30,000. We are informed that he owes his father $1,000 and a Mr. Evey is another creditor to the same amount. Many farmers who delivered grain at his mill received checks which have been found to be worthless.

—Rev. Mr. Mattern delivered his farewell sermon on Sunday evening to his congregation at Boiling Springs. It was of course an interesting and deeply impressive occasion. The work of this reverend gentleman during the winter has been blessed in its results far above that of any minister of whom we have heard in this section. He has held meetings at various points through the county and now has one in progress in Yocum's school house, where there are about fifty penitents. During the winter over two hundred persons have been led through his ministrations to confess their faith in a Redeemer. He expects to be assigned to another location at the approaching meeting of Conference. Wherever he may go he will be followed by the prayers of hundreds for his continued success, and his devotion to his work and happy manner in prosecuting it will doubtless enable him to richly bless any community in which his lot may be cast.

Failed on the Color Test.

We are informed that eight or ten Pittsburgh division men, comprising one conductor, two firemen, and the remainder engineers, were yesterday indefinitely suspended, because of their failure to stand a good examination on colors. Among the number are two of the oldest and most trustworthy passenger engineers in the company's service. While regretting the necessity which compells the dismissal of old and faithful employes, the officers of the company feel obliged to carry out the object sought to be attained through these examinations on colors.—Altoona Tribune.

—We understand that Rev. Geo. Penepacker will preach his farewell sermon next Sunday evening. This is his third year in Bellefonte and the Conference will be required to send him to another charge at its forthcoming meeting. Considering the reverend gentleman's extremely positive and bold character, which always arouses opposition, he has been perhaps the most successful pastor the Bellefonte M. E. church ever had.

A Public Sale.

The sale of agricultural implements and stock on Mrs. Valentine's farm, which occurred Thursday, is regarded as unusually successful. The farmers from all directions and many other persons gathered at an early hour and at 11 o'clock a. m. a lunch of bread and butter and hot coffee was served. While partaking of these refreshments everybody became enthusiastic and at its conclusion they all felt so happy that the sale, which began at 12 o'clock, moved along as smoothly and as easily as the great Corliss engine at the Centennial. Mr. Joseph Neff acted as auctioneer in his usual happy style, while our friend, Mr. William Shortlidge, officiated as clerk. Eighteen hundred dollars worth of goods was disposed of in a short time, the sale closing at 3 o'clock. Mr. Neff believes that it is very important to have a first class clerk on such occasions, and all who were present are unanimous in the opinion that a lunch served at the proper time facilitates proceedings immensely.

—Milesburg people continue to give evidence that their faith in the completion of the railroad through their town is unshaken. They point for proof of it to the fact that the railroad managers—exactly who they are is not certain—have built another powder magazine for blasting purposes. Blacksmithing shops, they aver, are being put up at different places, and if the railroad is not built soon, somebody is acting very foolishly and spending money for nothing. If Vanderbilt is the man, as they believe, they are confident that he didn't gain his millions and doesn't expect to accumulate more of them by such objectless expenditures, as that worldly-wise man knows that if he takes care of the pennies the dollars will take care of themselves.

—Argument court convened on Monday and continued during Tuesday. The Court transacted some of the ordinary business which comes before such a body in swearing in constables, etc. The Associate Judges Smith and Munson were on the bench with the President Judge and together they are as handsome a trio of gentlemen as can be encountered in any court of justice. Judge Chester Munson, who was appointed to the position only last week, is tall and quite elegant in appearance. He is the personification of dignity, with a long, flowing beard, graceful, quiet manners and a general air of self-possession. It would be natural to mistake him for a President Judge at any time.

Two Deaths.

On Thursday the death of Mr. John Mowery occurred at the home of Mr. Stitzer, on the Olewine farm not far from Bellefonte. He was 71 years, 1 week and 5 days old. The remains were taken to Clinton county for interment.

Saturday morning the death of Mrs. Mary Ann Kamp occurred at her home on Penn street. She made her home with a sister. We learn that she is a sister of Mrs. Jacob Weaver of this place. She was quite an old lady. The funeral took place on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock —The Central Pennsylvania Musical Association, the headquarters of which seems to be Selinsgrove, Pa., is contemplating a musical festival to be held in June next, and has not yet fixed upon a place to give forth their melody. This causes the Centre Hall Reporter to suggest Bellefonte as a proper place which suggestion we most cordially endorse. Come, musicians; let true hospitality and music join hands. We'll furnish all of the former and help to provide the latter, and the convention will be a success.

—Mr. Simon Rote, of Aaronsburg, is suffering from a paralytic stroke received on Monday, March 3. He was quite a distance from home engaged in chopping wood when the sad event occurred. His only companion, a little boy, informed some men who were passing that way and they carried him home.

—There was an unusually enjoyable party Thursday evening at the residence of Mr. S. D. Musser, in Millheim, the birthday celebration of Mr. M's oldest daughter, Mabel. Miss Mabel is a charming young lady and her numerous school companions, who largely composed the company, engaged heartily in the festivities.

—Treasurer Keller not only keeps the finances of the county in good shape, but he also deals in horses and cattle. He is now in Philadelphia exhibiting some superior horse-flesh, and when he returns will doubtless leave the steeds behind, but his pockets will be full of money from the proceeds of their sale.

—Mr. Jack S. Ewing, of Snow Shoe, spent Sunday among his friends in Tyrone.

Personal Pencilings.

Engineer White is now located in Centre Hall.

J. C. Harper, Esq., is ambitious to own some first-class horseflesh.

Mr. Harry Hicks departed on the 8.55 train Friday evening on a business trip.

Hon. A. G. Curtin lectured in Allentown on Saturday evening, the 21st, on "Russia."

Miss Effie Mattern has succeeded Miss Lizzie Keyser in charge with Miss Sarah Bradley of the Telephone Exchange.

Miss Laura Hemphill, after a brief visit in Philipsburg, has returned to Bellefonte and is the guest of her friend, Mrs. Gephart.

Mr. Martin Fleck, of near Unionville, has taken charge of Mrs. Mann's farm at Boiling Springs and moved there with his family.

Mr. John Uzzle of Snow Shoe threatens to accept that challenge at marksmanship issued by an unknown some time ago through the News.

Mr. J. V. Thomas and family will not move from their present home to the residence recently purchased by them until about the 1st of May.

Mr. George Ago, a mercantile citizen of Williamsport, arrived in Bellefonte on Wednesday and is a guest in the family of Mr. Nicholas Bauer.

Mr. Chas. Valentine, in company with his two younger brothers, departed for Baltimore last week. The boys will attend school in that city.

Miss Eva Musser, of this place, was a passenger on the 10 a. m. train on Friday. She went to Jersey Shore to visit friends, to remain about ten days.

T. R. Reynolds was in Williamsport and stopped at two hotels, his name being recorded on both the Park House and Hepburn House registers.

Mrs. Adam McEwen, of Hublersburg, arrived in Bellefonte on Monday, March 3d, and remained until next day with friends. She is a very pleasant lady.

S. K. Foust, of Spring Mills, who met with such an extremely painful accident while sleighing in Milton a few weeks ago, is, we are happy to state, recovering. We shall be pleased to see him around again.

Miss Mary Wilson, of this place, who has been spending several months past with friends in Milton and Lewistown, returned home on Tuesday, the 4th, greatly to the delight of her numerous friends.

Mr. Daniel Garman, accompanied by his daughter, Miss Minnie, departed on Thursday to visit friends in Harrisburg, Milton and other places. They will also visit Clifton Springs, N. Y., before returning home. Mr. Garman frequently goes to Clifton and considers it a very attractive place of resort.

We hear that Lincoln Beck, a well known young man, formerly employed on the construction train, has recently received a well-deserved promotion. During the past few months he filled a position on the railroad at Beech Creek and now we hear that he is engineer on Vanderbilt's road at Snow Shoe. Before long he will own a few railroad lines.

—The Watchman on Friday published a poem entitled "A Prisoner's Longing," written by Wm. J. Swain of the Western Penitentiary. It purports to be written for the Watchman, but that is a mistake. If our readers will consult the Daily News of Jan. 31 or the Republican of February 6 they will see the same poem, word for word, except that in the Daily News it is entitled "Home and Mother," the manuscript of the poem having no title when it was received at this office.

—There is said to be a young married man in Milesburg who attempted to choke his wife because she refused to go to her mother to get him something to eat.
